

WILSON TO AID IN BILL FRAMING

PRESIDENT PLANS TO USE POWERS OF PERSONAL PERSUASION.

SPECIAL SESSION TALKED OF

Tariff May Be Only Subject Taken Up at That Time—Currency Reform Up.

Washington, March 9.—President Wilson will take a hand himself in framing legislation with the new congress. With the co-operation of party leaders in the house and senate, he proposes to work over tariff, currency and other important measures, even before they are introduced, and to lend the weight of the administration to the support of the bills.

This information and the fact that the president will endeavor in forwarding his policies by the use of personal persuasion, not only with members of his own party but with progressive republicans who are inclined to be friendly, came today from those who have talked with him since his inauguration.

The president does not plan to draft legislation, but expects by suggestion and conference to come to an agreement upon specific measures with the party leaders. It has not been determined whether currency will be taken up at the special session. It was learned today that when the president believes the time is ripe for such legislation he will call into conference such men as Representative Glass of Virginia, head of the subcommittee that has been investigating currency questions, to agree upon the outline of a bill that would have administrative backing.

To Lessen Individual Bills. Such process, the president believes, would discourage the flood of individual bills usually offered when reform legislation is undertaken and would concentrate the efforts of party leaders toward some kind of agreement in advance of public discussion. This method, it is also believed in some quarters, would have the effect of steadying the nervous system of the business world when subjects so vital as the tariff and currency are being revised.

Congressional leaders practically agreed on the question that no subject but the tariff should be taken up at the special session. Many house leaders expressed doubt the advisability of bringing in a currency bill near the end of the extra session, as has been suggested to the president by the advocates of immediate currency reform.

The president's plan is that a currency bill might be evolved by that time and submitted to the house without detracting from the attention then centering on the tariff. He has been of the belief that in the interval between the extra session and the December session of congress a campaign of discussion could be carried on to crystallize public opinion. Leaders of congress agree that such a campaign of education must precede the actual process of current legislation.

One Step at a Time Is Aim. President Wilson's plan as to legislation is not necessarily to insist on the strict acceptance of administration measures as such. But he will endeavor to secure the accomplishment of legislation with the aid of democratic leaders that will express fully the fixed purpose of the administration. A part of the president's plan, and in this he has the support of many house leaders, is to keep the eyes of the nation fixed on one particular measure at a time. This was his line of procedure as governor of New Jersey in pushing through the anti-trust bills.

The president is expected to consult with house leaders this week over the form of some of the tariff revision bills. The newly designated members of the ways and means committee have been at work for two days and will continue throughout next week on the preparation of their measures.

To Vise All Bills. President Wilson already has made a study of some of the tariff bills of the last two sessions, and Secretaries Redfield and Bryan are thoroughly familiar with recent democratic work on the tariff. Before any of the measures are ready for presentation to the house they will have received the studios examination of the president and his cabinet. The ways and means committee is now turning attention to the possible effect of the tariff reductions on business prosperity. The president's desire to have currency reform undertaken as early as possible springs from the belief that a flexible currency system is necessary to meet the physical changes in business resulting from changes in tariff rates.

While the president anticipates but little difficulty in the prompt movement of tariff measures through the house, he is somewhat solicitous over the situation in the senate, where the democratic majority is small. A preliminary canvass in the senate has developed the fact that many democrats of that body will favor more radical cuts in some of the tariff duties than they did in the last congress. The extent to which the house bills will receive united democratic support is not yet certain, however.

Deadlocks Under Eye. The early action of the democratic senators from New Hampshire and Illinois, where deadlocks are in progress, is being counted upon by the president. The president and his close friends in the senate are confident, too, that if progressive legislation is introduced, the republican assistance can be secured sufficient to make up any possible losses in the democratic column.

Robbers' Work Is Cause of Explosion; Wrecked the Town

Indianapolis, March 9.—Fire caused by a premature explosion of nitroglycerine placed by robbers in the postoffice safe destroyed the business district of Carmel, a small town, twenty miles northwest of here, today. Only one building in the main business block was left standing. The loss is estimated at $150,000.

On the way to Carmel, a motor truck from here ran over a 20-foot embankment and two firemen were injured. J. Miller was perhaps fatally hurt.

Wild Scenes Occur When Suffragettes Start Speechmaking

London, March 9.—The suffragettes held meetings again today in Hyde Park and at Wimbledon common. They would have met the fate of last Sunday's meetings at the same place, when it required a strong body of police to escort them to safety, but that today the authorities took precautions and had large bodies of mounted and foot policemen in attendance.

Even at that wild scene ensued. Five thousand persons assembled in the park and swarmed about the speaker's platform and by a deafening din prevented any word of "General" Mrs. Flora Drummond's speech from being heard. The speaker, finally, broke up in the greatest confusion. Many suggestions were made to duck the speakers in a pond.

Another meeting at Hampstead Heath was still more disorderly. Mrs. Brackenbury had announced her intention to speak for an hour and succeeded in doing so by the help of a large force of police, but her discourse was inaudible.

Comic songs, shouts and laughter of disturbers could be heard half a mile and eggs were thrown at the speakers. The meeting finally broke up in the greatest confusion. Many suggestions were made to duck the speakers in a pond.

PROBLEMS OF CHILD LABOR UP

Delegates Representing Every State in Union to Discuss Employment of Young.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 9.—More than 200 delegates, representing every state in the union, are expected to arrive in Jacksonville during the next three days to attend the annual conference of the National Child Labor Committee, which opens Thursday for a five days session. Speakers of national reputation in labor and philanthropic circles are scheduled to address the conference and assist in inaugurating a nation-wide campaign of education along the line of child labor reform.

Child labor legislation, child labor and charitable relief, and child labor in relation to public health and wage scales, are among topics to be discussed. Conditions under which children are employed in various parts of the country will be portrayed by means of a collection of charts and statistical tables.

A feature of the conference will be a series of meetings to be held at a score of homes in the residential section of the city where special features of the child labor question will be discussed by conference leaders.

FRIEDMAN GIVES OFFICIAL TESTS

SEVEN PATIENTS TAKE VACCINE IN PRESENCE OF GOVERNMENT MEN.

FEDERAL INSPECTION IS RIGID

Watch Will Be Maintained Over Sufferers and Report Will Be Made of Results.

New York, March 9.—In a thirty-minute clinic late today Dr. Friedrich Friedman's vaccine was given a test in the presence of United States government officials. The seven cases treated are to remain under government inspection and upon their development will depend the official report. It was announced that Dr. Friedman had furnished the federal government representatives with specimens of his bacilli culture and that clinical observations would continue to be made by them.

Gathered at Mount Sinai hospital, where the test took place, was a party of thirty or more, surgeons of the city and the federal officers for whose benefit the patients were treated. These last were Surgeon F. F. Anderson, chairman of the board authorized by Surgeon General Blue of the federal public health service, and Past Assistant Surgeon A. M. Stimson.

The government physicians, acting under orders, they stated, declined to discuss the test. Dr. Anderson, it was said, would leave for Washington tomorrow or early tonight, while Dr. Stimson would remain here to watch the effect of the vaccine upon the patients.

The inoculation followed a lengthy consultation between Dr. Friedman and the government surgeons, and more than an hour of study of the history of the prospective patients. The seven persons to be treated, all adults, were brought in from various wards of the hospital where they were patients and given injections of the vaccine. Two of the patients, suffering with pulmonary tuberculosis and the others respectively with tuberculosis of the knee, the elbow, the ribs, the urinary tract and the kidneys. Each gave specifically his consent to the inoculation. Observers at the clinic said that Dr. Friedman had remained free from nervousness throughout and that the work of inoculation had progressed smoothly. The instruments used were furnished by the hospital.

More Tests Talked Of. "Dr. Anderson has expressed the intention of the government to conduct a series of clinical tests with Dr. Friedman's vaccine," said Dr. S. S. Goldwater, superintendent of the Mount Sinai hospital, after the clinic. "Dr. Friedman has supplied him with specimens of the culture and clinical observations will be made by the public health service of Washington."

"Our special contribution is to admit cases of surgical tuberculosis which have not been operated on, so that the government could make a test. The cases treated by Dr. Friedman in the hospital tonight were moderately advanced and if anything remarkable happens it will surely mean a successful test. I believe, Dr. Friedman is sincere in his belief that he has found a cure but as to the outcome time alone will show that."

It was said that no demonstrations are to be made tomorrow. Dr. Friedman would be busy preparing for his Canadian trip, for which he is to leave at night.

"When I return," said Dr. Friedman, "I will treat as many patients as there are cases charted in the six days from now until I return. I shall treat a great number of bone and joint cases. Those are cases which show results quickly so that they are visible to the eye in a short time."

Dr. Friedman said that he had received an invitation by telephone yesterday afternoon from the Philadelphia authorities to come to that city. He replied that he would telegraph his decision from Canada.

WAGES POWERFUL INFLUENCE

Woman Discusses Problem of Working Girls—Economic Independence Needed, She Asserts.

Philadelphia, March 9.—Declaring that low wages have been important and powerful influences upon the question of prostitution, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the International Woman's Suffrage Alliance, in an address here today took issue with statements made before the Illinois vice commission in Chicago.

"I do not mean to say that wages is the only question involved in this world problem," declared Mrs. Catt. "It is not, but it probably is the most powerful and most important influence with which we have to deal."

LIST OF NAMES OF PROSPECTIVE DIPLOMATS OUT

WASHINGTON, March 9.—President Wilson has not completed his roll of diplomats but announcements are expected within a few days. The president has been considering many names and has been sounding prospective candidates through his friends.

Richard Olney of Massachusetts can be ambassador to Great Britain if he wishes.

Democratic Chairman William F. McCombs can be ambassador to France if he wishes.

T. W. Gregory, a lawyer of Austin, Texas, may be ambassador to Mexico. There is some doubt whether he would accept it if he were offered the post.

Charles R. Crane of Chicago can go to St. Petersburg or Peking if he desires.

Augustus Thomas, the playwright, probably will be ambassador to France if Mr. McCombs does not accept. Otherwise he may be offered the ambassadorship to Germany.

Frederick C. Bedford of Germantown, Pa., will be ambassador to one of the European countries, probably Russia, Austria or Turkey.

Henry R. Morganthau of New York and Thomas Nelson Page are being considered for ambassadorships.

Col. Thomas Birch, an intimate friend of both the president and of Secretary Bryan, probably will be minister to Belgium.

W. W. Bridge of Washington may take up one of the legations in Latin America.

Gossip tonight about assistant secretaries bring foremost the name of John Bassett Moore for first assistant secretary of state.

It is believed that Charles Barrett of Georgia, president of the National Farmers' union, who was strongly urged for the post of secretary of agriculture, will be associated prominently with Secretary Houston of the agricultural department.

F. B. Graves of Alabama is being strongly urged by the Alabama senators for the post of assistant secretary of war, and W. R. Hollister of New York is said to be slated for one of the assistant postmaster generalships.

Col. D. Roosevelt of New York came to Washington tonight and conferred with Senator O'Gorman. He may be assistant secretary of the navy.

TO "CLEAN UP" NEW YORK.

Work Will Be Conducted by Health Authorities.

New York, March 9.—An effort to give New York city a "spring cleaning" will be begun tomorrow under health department auspices. The movement will be in charge of Dr. McMillan, assistant city sanitary superintendent, who helped Col. Gorgas in the banishing of yellow fever from Cuba.

Every part of the city, it is hoped, will be cleaned and swept.

McIntyre Gives Views. Washington, March 9.—Brigadier General Frank McIntyre, chief of the bureau of insular affairs and a member of the American commission which recently returned from Santo Domingo, where it aided in the establishment of the provisional government following the revolution, tonight expressed the opinion that if Archbishop Nouel, provisional president of the Dominican Republic, had resigned, as officially reported, he practically had been harassed into it by office seekers.

According to Dr. I. Block, the weather bug for the Waco Morning News, the weather today will be like some folks' debts—unsettled. It will probably be a bit cooler, and there may be a little rain with it all. Dr. Block has been looking up the statistics and finds that for the past twenty years the average last killing frost was March 10, and the last killing frost known in the last twenty years came on March 29. He thinks we will miss the average last killing frost, and the fruit trees that are blooming will be saved.

Condition of Pope Pius Shows Some Improvement

Physicians Declare Nothing of an Alarming Nature Whatever in Illness.

Rome, March 9.—A marked improvement was noted today in the condition of Pope Pius X, both the inflammation of the throat and the hoarseness being considerably diminished.

The pope himself said he felt much relieved and hoped that his "tyrants" would allow him to resume at an early date the ordinary course of life. The attending physicians, however, insist that he continue to rest.

The pope passed a tranquil night. Dr. Amici, who remained in an adjacent room, did not need to give his personal services to the patient until this morning. The pope then received the papal secretary of state, Cardinal Merry del Val, and afterwards his sisters and niece, who remained with him for more than half an hour.

Dr. Marchisiani, in describing the condition of his holiness today, said that there were no symptoms of gout, from which the pope has been a frequent sufferer, but that he is afflicted at the present time with only a simple bronchial affection somewhat diffuse but without any alarming character.

He declared that there was nothing of an alarming nature whatever in the pope's indisposition, which might have been expected for the advanced age of the pontiff.

The pope himself is more anxious concerning the health of Cardinal Rispigli, the vicar general, who is seriously ill with influenza, and about whom the pope frequently inquires.

Wilson's Heart Runs O'er With Silent Worship of Great of Old

President and Wife Dodge Crowd and Camera Battery By Attending Unexpected Church.

Washington, March 9.—President Wilson made a quick shift in his plans for church-going today, much to the disappointment of hundreds of Washingtonians, but grateful to his own satisfaction of being the center of interest for thousands of curious eyes and the focus for a clicking camera battery in a quiet part of the city, while the crowd, which expected to see them come and go a mile away wondered how it had all happened.

Announcements in local newspapers that the president would occupy this morning the Lincoln pew in the New York Avenue Presbyterian church, brought out a crowd of curious persons who filled that broad thoroughfare from curb to curb for a block and a half, put a damper on what traffic was running and caused the prompt dispatch of ten policemen to keep a sidewalk clear for the expected guests.

Long before 11 o'clock, the hour set for the beginning of the service, the ushers had to announce that all seats had been taken and the more persistent who wished to enter had to be content with standing room on the sidewalk. Many of them waited until noon before they were convinced that the president was not coming and even then left reluctantly and with many hopeful glances toward the white house. The few faithful who remained, however, were rewarded by the president's appearance at 12:30 o'clock, the hour set for the beginning of the service.

The president, Mrs. Wilson and Miss Eleanor were worshipped at the Central Presbyterian church, Third and D streets, N. W., fully a mile away from the New York Avenue edifice. They started before 11 o'clock in a white house car for New York Avenue, but on a glimpse of the crowd made the president change his mind. A word to the chauffeur, a quick turn, and they were out of sight down a side street and on their way to another church. A rumor that swept through those waiting at New York Avenue sent the photographers flying far out in the street and toward the section to another Presbyterian church, so that there were only a few persons at the door when the presidential party came out. They were driven back immediately to the white house through streets nearly deserted.

The absence of the familiar aide in full dress and the chugging motorcycles of the two policemen who followed President Taft everywhere on his motor rides, left the white house car unmarked except for the coat of arms of the nation on the door panels. Vice President Marshall and Mrs. Marshall were recognized only by a few persons on their way to church, but after they were seated and before the services began the word began to spread that there was a polite craning of necks to see them.

AUTOISTS INJURED.

Car Dashes Into Board Walk and Turns Turtle.

Huntsville, Ala., March 9.—Four persons were injured, three seriously, when an automobile going at a rapid rate dashed into a board walk on Meridianville pike, north of here, and turned turtle. The injured are: Allen Hutchens, son of Postmaster W. F. Hutchens of Huntsville, skull fractured and internal injuries; Owen Graham, automobile agent, eye knocked out and injured internally; Ben Coker, clerk, skull fractured; Milton Lyle, clerk, badly bruised.

Hutchens was driving the car. In steering around a wagon he lost control of the machine and it dashed into the board walk. Hutchens was thrown through a wire fence and badly mangled.

Campaign Against Opium. Peking, March 9.—The national anti-opium congress with a view to assisting China to suppress the opium trade will appeal to the Young Men's Christian and Missionary societies throughout the world to open funds for as large a portion as possible of the opium stocks at the treaty ports. The stocks will be burned.

116 NARROWLY ESCAPE

BRITISH STEAMER ASHORE HAS DIFFICULTY IN GETTING AID.

United States Wireless Station Finally Receives Message and Sends "Ambulance" in Time.

Key West, Fla., March 9.—One hundred and sixteen passengers, all of whom were immigrants bound from Spain to Cuba, with the exception of two first-class passengers, were rescued from the British steamer Lugano, which ran aground on the Florida coast by the tug Rescue this afternoon.

The passengers were landed here tonight and housed in buildings along the docks, coats having been obtained prior to the arrival of the tug. The transfer of the passengers from the ill-fated Lugano to the Rescue, acting temporarily as an ambulance of the sea, was effected in two hours, small boats being used. Of the passengers rescued the twelve were women, fifteen children and the remaining eighty-nine men.

It was 1:30 o'clock this morning that the Lugano suddenly struck the reef. Captain Penwill immediately realized that the position of the vessel was serious. Distress rockets were sent into the air telling of the accident, but no answering signals came. The wireless sputtered its feeble "SOS" across the waters, but vainly waited for an answer through the early morning hours.

Finally the message was picked up by the United States wireless station. At the same time it was intercepted by the tug Rescue, bound for this port. The latter vessel immediately set out for the Lugano and had succeeded in rescuing her passengers before additional tugs, sent out from here, arrived on the scene.

Captain Penwill of the Lugano, which was bound from Liverpool to Cuban ports, tonight wired officials of the Lloyd line, to which the Lugano belongs, notifying them of the accident and asking that aid be sent at once in an effort to save the ship. When the Rescue left the ship this afternoon she had eighteen feet of water in her first hold.

The exact cause of the accident is not known. The waters of the Gulf of Mexico were quiet last night and early today.

CHINAMAN FACES MURDER TRIAL

Charge Grows Out of Killing of Five Men During Battle on Street.

New York, March 9.—When Gee Doy Yung is placed on trial tomorrow, charged with murder, the Chinese tongs or secret societies will try the first time be officially recognized in court here. Assistant District Attorney Wasservogel announced today that in presenting the state's case he will depart from the usual procedure in previous trials of Chinese and will try to show the countrywide scope of the tongs and that the murder was part of a tong battle.

The battle, which took place last October, resulted in the death of five men, two Chinese and three white men. An investigation disclosed that on the same day in the Chinese districts of Philadelphia, Chicago and San Francisco similar battles took place.

Counsel for the On Leong tong, of which Yung is a member, will be assisted at their trials by Miss Inez Mulholland, the suffrage leader.

Unusual precautions will be taken at the trial to prevent an outbreak between the rivals.

Francis Colton Dies. Washington, March 9.—Francis Colton, father of Governor George R. Colton of Porto Rico, and one time prominently identified with the Union Pacific railroad as one of its general officers, died here tonight of jaundice.

McVEACH DEFENDS OLEO CASE RULING

FORMER SECRETARY OF TREASURY DECLARES SETTLEMENT JUST ONE.

MAKES PUBLIC HIS STATEMENT

Asserts Violations Were Due Only to Ingredients Used With Knowledge of Government Bureau.

Chicago, March 9.—Franklin McVeagh, former secretary of the treasury, today issued a statement in which he defended his ruling in the oleomargarine prosecutions which resulted in the government's acceptance of $120,000 in settlement of alleged frauds through which the government, it is claimed, was defrauded out of $1,200,000.

Mr. McVeagh asserted that no intentional fraud existed in the cases and that the settlement was on recommendation of the bureau of internal revenue.

"As the oleomargarine compromise cases have been more or less misunderstood," he said, "I am quite willing to state the facts."

"These were not fraud cases. No fraud was charged by the government. No fraud was committed and no fraud, therefore, was compromised. There are oleomargarine cases and oleomargarine cases. Those of which the public has heard most are fraud cases—cases in which the oleomargarine law was fraudulently evaded. The cases in question, however, are not in that category."

"The outline story of these cases is this: The manufacture of two kinds of oleomargarine is permitted by law. One kind may be artificially colored, as butter and cheese may. This kind pays a tax of 10 cents a pound. The other, and usual kind, is taxed a quarter of a cent a pound and must not be artificially colored. It may be naturally colored by the color naturally in the permitted ingredients. There is constant effort to obtain natural color in the permitted ingredients. This effort is, of course, an entirely legitimate enterprise and within the law."

Cotton Seed Oil Ingredient. "It happens that cotton seed oil is one of the chief ingredients of oleomargarine and also that this oil, in its crude state, is colored. In the process of refining cotton seed oil, however, for use in oleomargarine, the color has been lost, at least in any process not expensive to be commercially available. Thus the manufacturers are searching for a process of refining cotton seed oil by an economical process without losing its color."

"Now, an Ohio chemist claims to have invented a method that solves the problem and an oil company in Louisville—not an oleomargarine company—used this invention and in 1911 produced oil with some color that was claimed to be natural. The oil was offered to oleomargarine manufacturers."

The oleomargarine people brought the oil to the attention of the bureau of internal revenue. The oil then was tested throughout many weeks by the chemical laboratory of the bureau, by the laboratory of the oleomargarine manufacturers and by private laboratories. It also was tested for sulphur continuously by the bureau of animal industry. No one could find any artificial color."

"Finally the manufacturers of oleomargarine connected with these cases became apparently so certain of the legality of this oil that they began to use it with the knowledge of the bureau of internal revenue but without the bureau's final decision."

"The bureau met at the end of its resources at the time. The oil had thus been openly used in larger or smaller quantities for some months when the bureau by new chemical inquiries became satisfied that the oil, after all, was not artificially colored with sulphur. When this was announced all manufacturers of oleomargarine quit using the oil."

"It must be understood that manufacturers of oleomargarine were not normal purchasers of it and knew nothing about it which the government did not know. It also should be understood that the government's contention that the oil is artificially colored is disputed."

"The question between the oleomargarine manufacturer and the bureau of internal revenue was not one of fraud. It was a question of technical liability."

"The amount of these compromises, totaling $123,000, were proposed by the parties after the bureau had decided that they could not be released from tax liability and it was found that these amounts were all the government's evidence would enable it to enforce, and probably more. The offers were for that reason accepted."

"The reference to a much larger sum—say $1,000,000—as an amount these parties might have been compelled to pay, grew probably out of the pro forma claims. There was never a real question of the amount of the sum."

"One other mistaken impression is that the action was an eleven hour one. The case has been before the department for a number of months. It reached me for approval in November. It was debated when I was about to approve the settlements. I suddenly learned that Judge Landis in federal court in Chicago proposed to take judicial cognizance of the cases and refer them to a jury."

"I withheld by suggestion purely in formal deference to the court. I could have approved the settlements at any time and ended the matter, for these cases are administrative and rest with the treasury department."

Marlin, March 9.—Tom Hanley, a recruit pitcher of the New York National league baseball team, died here this morning at 7:10 o'clock, following an operation for appendicitis. Aynesworth of Waco and Dr. Allen of Marlin, who performed the operation.

Hanley leaves a wife and two children. His home was in Marietta, Ohio. His father was notified and is on his way to Marlin.

few days, but he expects to devote almost the entire week to the discussion of legislation and policy, so that he may complete his special message in harmony with the prevailing sentiment in the national capital.

Democratic Break Unimportant.

The break that occurred in the democratic caucus in the senate last week is apparently to have no important effect upon the anticipated control of that body by the so-called progressive forces. While Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia accepted as a personal rebuff the defeat of his colleague, Senator Bacon, for the position of president pro tem, subsequent conferences of the democrats have indicated that reorganization will be accomplished with so-called progressive forces in control of committees.

The strong personal fight made by Senator Tillman to secure the chairmanship of the appropriations committee to which seniority of service would entitle him, is expected to be successful. Senator Simmons also is expected to secure the chairmanship he desires of the powerful finance committee, which handles all tariff bills. In each case, however, as with the other important committees, the balance of distributed among new and old senators as to leave the balance of power in the hands of the forces of which Senator Kern is the present leader.

The reorganization will be perfected, it is expected, before the senate ends the special session now in progress. Republicans have completed their committee lists and are ready to offer them to the democrats at once. The republicans have asked for an increase on their representation on three committees. Senator La Follette will have to be dropped from the finance committee. Senator Root from the judiciary committee, or Senators Burton and Dillingham from the foreign relations committee.

In addition there will be another team from either Harvard or Yale.

FIFTEEN MEN ARE EXECUTED

REPORT FROM LAMPAZOS, MEXICO, SO STATES—FEDERAL PRISONERS.

RIOTING FEARED AT DOUGLAS

Americans Get Orders to Leave Agua Prieta for Their Own Protection.

Laredo, March 9.—According to unconfirmed reports reaching Laredo tonight from Lampazos, Mex., all federal prisoners captured by the Carranza forces were executed late this afternoon. While the number of prisoners taken by the Carranza soldiers is not known here, it was reported fifteen men were captured near Lampazos Friday.

SITUATION NO BETTER.

Americans Get Warning to Go to Places of Safety.

Douglas, Ariz., March 9.—Encamped within striking distance of several important border towns, 800 constitutional troops rested on their arms today, while insurrections among federal garrisons strengthened materially the rebel forces.

No word has come from Nacozari, south of here, where a fierce battle was waged last yesterday, and it is not known what the result of the encounter has been. The last word received from the besieged city was from the telegraph operator who flashed: "Too hot for me here," and left his key just before all wires between Douglas and Nacozari were cut.

Americans Ordered to Leave.

Open revolt and scenes of disorder have occurred among 250 federal defenders of Agua Prieta and the military officials there today gave warning to all Americans to leave the town. Today the best citizens of Agua Prieta generally fled to Douglas, while the drunken and rebellious soldiers harassed the streets crying "Viva Madero!" "Viva Maytorena!" and "Viva Diaz!" Brawls between politically estranged companions in arms added to the confusion and terror which held the town in its grasp throughout the day.

Desertions among the federal soldiers at Guaymas, the California gulf port held by the federals, were reported here today, and though orders were received by the commander of that garrison to move against Hermosillo with his full force immediately, no move has been made by them.

Rioting Expected.

It is reported that federal officers there are in bitter disagreement and rioting is expected. A message received at Nogales from Mexico City states that another division of troops numbering 2000 has started its march against Hermosillo to attack the constitutionalists.

Mobilization of rebel troops began last night and continued through today. At Magdalena 1000 new recruits organized and are now ready to take the field. State troops have commander orders to move against Hermosillo and the railroad men are being paid for their services.

Rebels Burn Bridges.

Last night the rebels burned bridges on the Southern Pacific to within thirty-five miles of Nogales and three bridges on the branch running to the American mining center of Cananea. With both wire and railway communication blocked, the insurgents are in complete control of Sonora, and declare they will be able to check any advance made against them.

Colonel Kosteritzky, commander of the federal rural police, made public a statement today that things looked pretty black. He received a report from federal agents that six hundred rebel troops were moving against Nogales.

All movable valuables, including even safes, were brought to the American side today from the Mexican customs house and Nogales banks are preparing to transfer funds to this side of the border.

General Ojeda, commander at Agua Prieta, yesterday received orders to evacuate the town and march to Nogales, but this order was rescinded when Mexico City learned of the battle waging at Nacozari.

SITUATION IMPROVES.

Outrages Decrease Outside Coahuila and Sonora.

Mexico City, March 9.—The situation throughout the republic outside the states of Coahuila and Sonora has shown improvement during the past week. Zapata outrages, though still reported from time to time, have occurred with less frequency and while Zapata himself is still keeping under cover, there is reason to believe that he is still at least in a receptive mood.

The government emissaries who went to confer with Zapata in an attempt to find a basis for his surrender have not yet reported. In the meantime several hundred men who were currently believed to be operating under his command laid down their arms.

The solution of the Orozco problem seems to have been found. Conditions throughout Chihuahua are promising and a number of former rebels in that state are offering their aid for the suppression of disorders in Sonora and Coahuila.

Antonio Herrera, the rebel chief, who has been operating for months in the state of Zacatecas, has sent a letter to the war minister, General Mondragon, saying that he and his men are ready to yield as soon as they are assured of the passage by congress of the amnesty laws.

Indictive of the suspicion which is holding back many rebels which would otherwise doubtless be ready to quit the field, part of the command of Cheche Campos, formerly with Orozco around Torreon but now supporting the administration, has refused to entrain for Monclova, declaring their belief that this is a trick to bring them to the national capital for punishment. These rebels were willing to proceed on foot to take up the campaign against the Carranzistas but would not trust themselves to trains.

Communication Restored. Railroad and telegraphic communication is gradually being restored. The telegraph line was in operation today to Juarez. It is announced at the railway offices that communication will be established tomorrow direct to Monterrey.

Dr. Francisco Vasquez Gomez for president and Alfredo Robles Dominguez for vice president have begun their campaign at Guanajuato. Vasquez Gomez was formerly minister of public instruction and was ousted by Madero. Robles Dominguez was Madero's treasurer and later chief of arms at the capital during and following the Madero revolution.

David de la Fuente left Chihuahua today for the national capital to assume the post of minister of communication. He was accompanied by Emilio Campa, one of Orozco's chief lieutenants.

General Antonio Rabago, governor of Chihuahua, has been deluged with offers from former rebel chiefs to go to Sonora and Coahuila to aid the government. Campa is anxious to take up the campaign in Sonora, where he says he has old scores to settle. The various offers have been communicated to President Huerta for his approval.

Conditions throughout the state of Chihuahua are improving, according to the latest advices. Bankers and business men have offered the governor funds to aid in quelling the disorders.

Several Officers Killed. Mexico City, March 9.—Zapatistas on Friday attacked Toluca, a small town in the state of Guerrero. They killed several officers, sacked public buildings and shops and carried away ten girls, members of prominent families. The band is supposed to be part of the Radilla bandit organization.

ALLIES ARE ACTIVE

The Carranza forces are reported to be gathering at Cuatro Ciénegas, Coahuila.

Efforts to incite trouble at Vera Cruz last night by calling a general strike of the railroad and shipping employees were frustrated by the authorities, who promptly arrested the leaders in the agitation.

OFFICIAL REPORT REACHES CONSTANTINOPLE OF ATTACK ON ADRIANOPLE.

Turkish Artillery Causes Considerable Loss to Battalion of Infantry in Act of Advancing.

Constantinople, March 9.—An official communication issued today says that the allies bombarded Adrianople on Thursday and Friday, the Turkish forts replying. Saturday was quiet.

Saturday at Bulair, the Turkish artillery effectively attacked a battalion of the enemy which was advancing, inflicting considerable loss. The next day the enemy fired on the Turkish cruiser Torgut Reis, which replied and silenced their batteries.

All is reported quiet at Thessalonika. Only a few newspapers mention the fall of Janina to the Greek arms.

Enthusiasm at Janina.

Athens, March 9.—Official dispatches record the continued enthusiasm of the inhabitants of Janina for the Greeks. There are celebrations daily. The Greek princes and princesses have received ovations everywhere.

It is said that when the white flag was hoisted on the Turkish forts, the Greek officers, aware of privations of food, bread, cheese and tinned meats they had. The Turks, greatly touched, sent through the officers a message of gratitude and thanks.

Greek Losses 800 Men.

London, March 9.—A Constantinople dispatch to the Post says that Enver Bey is at San Stefano with 20,000 troops to check the possible advance on that city of the Thessalonika forces, whose loyalty to the government is doubtful. Storms still hinder military operations.

The Greek losses in the capture of Janina, according to a dispatch to the Daily Telegraph, are estimated at 800. The Epirus campaign now ended has cost the Greeks 13,000 men killed and wounded.

In an interview Enver Pasha, who commanded the Turkish forces at Janina, said that he had resisted until he considered further resistance useless. He had little ammunition left. His losses during the four months of the siege numbered 7500.

Fear Peace Negotiations Shattered.

London, March 9.—The Constantinople correspondent of the Daily Mail expressed the fear that the peace negotiations will be shattered on the indemnity question.

Shukri Pasha, commandant at Adrianople, reports that portions of the town have been flooded by the melting snow and the forts and entrenchments damaged thereby, and that this, combined with the shortage of food and ammunition, may compel him to make a sortie regardless of risk.

A Constantinople dispatch to the Daily News says that Shukri Pasha has urged the government that Adrianople cannot hold out much longer and asks whether terms of surrender may be considered.

Greeks Occupy Paramythia.

Athens, March 9.—The Greeks have occupied Paramythia, in Epirus, thirty miles to the southwest of Janina and Margilira. The crown prince in a message from Janina says the Greek forces will concentrate at Paramythia.

Greeks' Condition Improves.

London, March 9.—A dispatch from Janina says the Greek army is in better condition than it was at the time of the surrender of Saloniki. This is due to the excellent transport and commissariat service between Preveza and the front.

The Turkish army in Janina was not on the point of starvation. All its flour and sugar were exhausted but there was plenty of meat and maize, so there could not have been great suffering in the town.

A Saloniki dispatch to the same paper says that five transport ships with 5000 Servians sailed Friday for San Giovanni di Medua. This is the first detachment of an army of 25,000 men destined to reinforce the allies around Scutari.

CLARA SEVIER DEFENDS CLAIM

LEGISLATORS RECEIVE COPY OF ADDRESS ON HER ATTITUDE.

ALAMO QUESTION IS TITLE

Daughters of the Republic Contentions Are Referred to By Legislative Committee Chairman.

Austin, March 9.—The following address has been sent to the legislature: Austin, Tex., March 7, 1913.

The Thirty-third Legislature. Gentlemen: Yesterday you received a voluminous pamphlet labeled "A Message of Governor O. B. Colquitt to the Thirty-third Legislature, Relating to the Alamo Property." I find that in this pamphlet is assembled some lengthy though interesting excerpts from the various Texas histories, magazine articles, and letters of private and public individuals, bearing upon the history of the Alamo. Much space, however, at considerable public expense, is used to quote certain records, with an evident desire to belittle my personal services in connection with the acquisition of the Alamo Mission property, and to discredit the organization known as the Daughters of the Republic of Texas.

Most of the records quoted have heretofore been freely circulated, and have been in your possession for some time, and they undoubtedly show that the state of Texas acquired the Alamo Mission property from me without reservations or restrictions, and that the organization with which I am standing, the Daughters of the Republic of Texas, have no claim to the title of said property. This is a fact that has been conceded, and over which there has been no controversy, and I have no hesitancy in adding that when the then attorney general of the state (Hon. R. V. Davidson) was perfecting the title to the property, I not only willingly agreed that the restrictions, conditions, etc., in my deed from Charles Hugo be eliminated, but assisted him in every manner possible in securing necessary releases from those who had owned the property prior to its transfer to me.

The Daughters of the Republic of Texas have only contended, since the acquisition of the property, that they were given its care, custody and control, that I conveyed the property to the state with that understanding, and that article 6394 of the Revised Civil Statutes so provides.

Beyond the entertaining reproduction of articles from the magazines, histories, personal letters, legends, etc., the Message to the Thirty-third Legislature relating to the Alamo property is chiefly remarkable for its omission of records that show the obligation of the state to those who absolutely made the acquisition of the property by the state possible.

This, however, is unimportant, for you will have in your possession, as soon as the matter can be compiled and turned out by the printer, another pamphlet which will have, probably, an equal historical value, and which will carry the subject from the date where the "Message" ends down to the present time, and include some entertaining and enlightening documents that have recently emanated from the executive office. Until you receive this volume, I trust that you will exercise judgment as to the justice of the position of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas in their claim for recognition for the control of the Alamo.

In concluding the "Message to the Thirty-third Legislature, Relating to the Alamo Property," a resolution adopted in 1909 by the executive board of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas is prominently displayed. This resolution provides for the removal of the Alamo property to the state of Texas, and is signed by the officials of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas.

That such a resolution was considered by the organization there is no question, but in common fairness it should be stated that at the time the organization was in deep distress. Outside influences were attempting to destroy it; a small faction that had been ennobled by the supreme court at Galveston was struggling to obtain possession of a property that the entire body was pledged to care for and protect; court proceedings had been instituted, and the executive board had been called upon to defend itself from assault on all sides. The organization did ask to be relieved of the responsibility for the reason that an effort was being made by certain outside influences to take from them that which by every right of law and justice was theirs to maintain and care for.

There are numerous precedents for the action. In fact, it is usual for the strong to protect the struggling. Indeed, the Hon. T. M. Campbell, then governor of Texas, actually took over the property, and held it in trust until the small discordant element was eliminated from the organization, and

NAVAL BILL UNSETTLED.

Deadlock To Be Resumed Today by Parliament.

Ottawa, Canada, March 9.—After more than five days of continuous discussion on the naval bill, members of the Dominion parliament today enjoyed a respite, which only Sunday's day one day in which sessions cannot be held, gained for them.

The deadlock will be resumed tomorrow.

"We will proceed with this naval bill as soon as government orders are received Monday," Premier Borden told Wilfred Laurier, leader of the opposition, shortly before midnight last night. The debate at that time had continued for 129 hours.

The trouble began Tuesday when Premier Borden rejected a motion by Sir Wilfred that the house adjourn, saying that some progress should be made. Sir Wilfred replied by offering an amendment to the bill providing for "the speedy organization of a Canadian naval service in co-operation with and in close relation to the imperial navy," as a substitute for the government proposal to appropriate $15,000,000 for the purpose of immediately increasing the naval forces of the empire."

DR. FRIEDMANN'S CURE.

Dr. Frederick Friedmann has finally been given an opportunity to test his method of curing consumption, although he had to break down all the technical walls which the physicians of New York could build in front of him. We believe in the proper regulation of the practice of medicine; we are convinced that laws which establish requirements that must be met before a practitioner is allowed to tamper with human life and ailments are necessary and proper, but it is exactly fair to a "discoverer" to subject him to the technicalities of residence and examination? He came to New York and proposed to make his test under the direction of the authorities, and it seems to us that little hindrance should have met his proposition. Now that he has been given an opportunity, numerous patients have been inoculated, and in the nature of an endorsement of Dr. Friedmann, Dr. Max Landersman, superintendent of the People's Hospital, said he received a favorable report signed by eight eminent specialists in Germany, testifying to the efficacy of the Friedmann culture. The directors of the hospital voted full confidence in Dr. Friedmann. Tuberculosis cases certified to by the city health authorities will be prepared for him by the hospital authorities when he is ready to resume holding clinics there. There are thousands and thousands of people in this country who are awaiting with anxiety the result of the tests. If there is a cure—or even if the condition of those who are inoculated is benefited—there should be cause for congratulation, and every effort should be made to give the advantages to all who are sufferers. We still believe that if there is a favorable report on the tests now being made that the municipal authorities of Waco should take steps to bring the treatment to this city. It is not paternalism—it is for humanity.

There was a lot of sentiment and devotion in the efforts of the members of the electrical workers' union until they could find the body of their associate who was buried under the falling walls. They proved their affection for their fellow.

Wednesday night we will have a chance to tell "Bob" Henry just how much his work for this district is appreciated.

We wait anxiously for Wednesday night to hear just what Church Bartlett of Marlin proposes to say about Woman Suffrage. Fact is, we want to know what he knows about the subject.

John I. Gulon of Ballinger was one of the men who shouldered a rifle and went up to the capitol to see that the votes for Coke for governor were counted. He meant business then, and he means it now, and as a member of the board of directors of the A. & M. College he will put forth every effort to make the College a success. Truly, he is a man of highest honor and citizenship, if ever one lived in Texas.

Just about the time we were beginning to learn how to dodge the individual motorcycle, the announcement comes there is to be a convention of motorcycles in Waco. We propose to stay on the sidewalk.

With all the vacancy that will exist at the corner of Sixth and Austin streets when the debris is cleared away, there will be a good chance to put up a substantial building. Don't spoil the skyline with a baby brick. Let it grow tall and strong and broad.

MR. HOGG'S AMBITIONS.

The statement is made that Mr. Will C. Hogg desires to bring about a merger of the University of Texas and the A. & M. College of Texas, move the A. & M. College to Austin to combine it with the University and utilize the present college plant in Brazos county for an asylum.

Fine business.

That is from the standpoint of the University, and if it was with that object in view that Mr. Hogg first conceived his "organization for the advancement of education," he has had his labors in vain. When Mr. Hogg first made his proposition for the Hogg organization, all educational forces in the State applauded him and all have joined in the efforts to educate the people as to education. Higher institutions in this State have not been well cared for, and the preparatory schools have been deficient in what they were supposed to do. The Hogg organization proposed to conduct an educational campaign with the people to show them wherein they could better the system. They are being told by speakers and by literature that the primary school must be made better; that grade work must be improved, and that high schools should better prepare the graduates for entrance to the colleges and universities, and finally that there should be more money provided in order that greater universities and colleges can be built. This work is necessary, and the unselfishness of Mr. Hogg in his efforts and his ideas has been applauded.

But is he unselfish? The suggestion that the College and the University should be merged is reported to have come from him. Therefore, his motives appear in some other than an unselfish light.

The suggestion of the merger will not be satisfactory to either the alumni and former students of the A. & M. College nor to the people of Texas. We rather think that it is a scheme to head off the suggestion that the A. & M. College is entitled to a part of that land grant fund that the University of Texas got from the State of Texas.

As a branch of the University, made so by the same constitutional convention that provided the land grant for the University, the College ought to have its share of that fund, and a division is now being demanded. Nothing but a division will satisfy the friends of the College, and the quicker the University continent realizes this the sooner will the controversy be settled. If the A. & M. College was abolished, and it is merged with the University, the great work in behalf of agriculture that has been built up by that institution will be secondary in the teaching in Texas.

The records of the University and the A. & M. College show that the College has more students in electrical engineering, civil engineering and other professions than the University; a comparison of the enrollment in the past shows that if the women students at the University are not counted, that the A. & M. College has the larger number of students. The college is making good with the men who are being graduated; they are in walks and professions and are a credit to the institution, and any suggestion to abandon the work that is being done at College Station, and combine it with the work at Austin, will be met with opposition that will be strong, and this is said in all friendliness to the University.

If the political influences which have been striking at the College during the last few years could be eliminated, it will be the greatest agricultural college in the country. The politics are not inside the college—they are outside. It is an effort of those people who are trying to connect with the College pay roll that has aroused the cry of politics. The employees and officers of the College are not politicians; they do not get their positions through political influences, and there are men on the board of directors of the college—such men as Gulon of Ballinger, Kyle of Houston, Petet of Fort Worth and Bennett of Paris who will not agree to use the College positions for political patronage. But there has been a pressure from outside to pay political debts with College jobs, and this has aroused the resentment of those who have the interests of the College at heart. The board refuses to be dictated to, and the result is that some changes that were proposed were not made.

Let the politicians keep their unholy hands off the institution, destroy the suggestion that the College be moved to Austin and combined with the University, and give the institution enough money, and those men who are now in control of it will make it the biggest agricultural institution in the United States.

"Bob" Milner can be depended on for the administrative ability if political schemers will let him alone.

WHAT DOES IT COST TO LIVE?

We have read for several days the testimony that has been brought out by the legislative committee in Illinois that has been investigating the wage scale in the department stores of Chicago, and the question is "What does it cost to live?" We must confess that it appeals strongly to the sentimental in our nature when we read of the $4 a week salaries that are paid, and think of the requirements upon those who must work for that pittance. None of us would care to trade in an establishment where the clerks, men or women, were unkempt, untidy or shabbily attired, yet how can a girl clerk maintain her personal appearance in keeping with the environments of the mercantile establishment if she must depend upon such small wages for her board and clothes? It is true that many people, earning much more, cannot have grapefruit for breakfast, and thick sirloins for dinner, and none will urge that these subordinate positions be paid salary sufficient to provide such luxuries, but there must be enough in the earnings to provide clean, wholesome food, and clean and neat apparel. While the witnesses from among the employing people endeavor to give the impression that they have never thought of what it ought to cost and does cost, and that they have not considered the ultimate end of an individual who must "get along somehow" on such pay, we are convinced they have thought of it and they simply do not care. We have before us a statement of the immense earnings for a year of one of the richly capitalized institutions of Chicago that is sending its goods and its catalogues on every rural route in the country. Millions have been distributed in profits, and thousands in wages. Do the fathers and mothers in Texas rural route communities who reject the offerings of Texas merchants and buy through such catalogue houses stop to realize they are contributing a penny to a low wage earner in Chicago and a dollar to the high profit employer; that they are failing to deal with a home merchant—a Texas business man—who pays a good wage, who carries a high class article of merchandise, who contributes in taxes to the support of the city and the state, and whose sympathies and sentiments are for the people of the Texas communities. And really we do not find that prices vary so much. We do not find the Chicago house appreciably lower in its offerings than are the concerns in Texas. People buy from the Chicago house from a picture in a catalogue, and the very slight difference in price that is offered as an inducement means a difference many times in the quality of the article offered.

We have the evidence before us that the low wages paid in Chicago has resulted in a response to the allurements of a different life—a bad life, if we must be plain. Will Texas people continue to contribute their help to such a future for many who are underpaid, and who must make up the deficit in daily money needs, through other methods than those recognized by moral standards?

Of the inauguration we have searched every story and every song, but in none of these does George Harvey belong.

Fourteen Years Old.

The Hamilton Record is fourteen years old, and brags about its birthday. "Tis well. A youngster that has grown as stout in its short life; that keeps its face as clean as does the Record, and has the confidence of its commercial community, has a right to brag. Editor Peck has had much to do with the success that has attended the paper. He has been with it almost from its beginning; he is conservative, energetic, ambitious and careful. His has been a tireless effort. His work has been for Hamilton, Hamilton county, Hamilton people and institutions, and unselfishly he has put his newspaper property and newspaper influence into his effort. Of his town he says in his birthday issue:

Hamilton has moved forward at a very rapid rate these fourteen years. Many of the old guard who were here then are gone and in fourteen more years the paper will contain the names of only a few who were then active in our business life, but let us hope that it will tell a wonderful story of progress for Hamilton and Hamilton country and that it will serve a people known and envied far and near for their enterprise and genuine moral worth.

Simple Inauguration.

The story told by the dispatches from Washington does not indicate that much has been accomplished along the lines of the new president's desire for simplifying the inaugural procedure, save as respects the giving up of the ball—Paris Advocate.

There could have been no more simple ceremony than that which marked the inauguration of Wilson. Except for the oath of office, the inaugural speech and the parade there was no feature. It is true that thousands filled the streets and stands, but that was not ceremony. It was but the natural desire of people who are a part of a republican government to see their new executive swear allegiance to their constitution and their laws; there was a parade that required five hours to pass a given point, but a parade is democratic. It includes in divisions the rich and the poor, the big and the little; the parade is a public entertainment. Any man can stand and watch it go by and be entertained, amused and educated by it. We have parades on every public occasion; the ball team parades, the people parade behind the successful candidate for office; the college boys parade; the circus parades—in fact, there is no more simple or democratic form of showing enthusiasm than by having a parade. But Wilson went into office without the extravagance and glitter of gold braid and brass buttons; without the ball and with no fuss and feathers that appeal only to a select few. He spent his first evening as president, with his classmates, and he retired early to the executive home to which the people had called him. The next morning he started work, and has been at it ever since. Truly it was a simple, democratic change from one administration to the other.

Good Luck to Gilmore.

Clarence Gilmore quits the tripod for the greenbag and sells an active, living, going newspaper, buying a copy of the Revised Statutes and one unit of a sectional bookcase in which to put his law library. The man who bought the newspaper got something for his money, but we are afraid Gilmore got bunched when he bought the Revised Statutes, because there is less accuracy in the publication than in any publication in the country—not excepting the things done by the Roycrofters. But Gilmore will make good in his new profession as he has made good in that which he has abandoned. He is a good fellow, and no finer tribute can be paid him than that which is tendered by the Denton Record and Chronicle, which says:

Announcement of the final retirement of Clarence E. Gilmore from active newspaper work will be received with general and sincere regret among Texas newspaper men, for thereby Texas journalism has lost a man of high ideals, of great force and honesty of character and an ornament to the profession. Gilmore has been a full-fledged lawyer for several months, but up to a few days ago still retained an interest and associate editorship of the Willis Point Chronicle, a publication which he made one of the best-known in the State. Now, however, comes the announcement that he has disposed of his entire interest and connection in the Chronicle and will devote all of his time and talents to the law. Edna Campbell, who for ten years has been connected with the Chronicle, and who has long since imbibed the high ideals of his newspaper mentor, succeeds Mr. Gilmore and will, we are sure, maintain the high standard which his predecessor sets. We wish Gilmore all the good fortune in the world in his new profession, and we believe Mr. Campbell to be his worthy successor. We know of no higher praise that could be said.

Don't Die in the House.

In Memphis a wife gave her husband "Rough On Rats," and he died. Husbands in Tyler can avoid risk by buying wife a new hat.—Tyler Courier-Herald.

The "don't die in the house" kind was adopted by this woman with evident intention to not only get him out of the way, but to get him out of the house, to the parlor rugs would not be damaged. But why should Editor Green say anything about it; why should he suggest the new spring hat as a life-saver? Are we to stand in daily fear of this suggestion that unless we buy the hat we take the Rough on Rats? Christmas is just past and now they have moved Easter up a notch or two, so that we hardly recover from the holiday expenses before the season opening is upon us. We used to have until April for the millinery matters. But some fellow has located the earliest date on which Easter can fall, and has fixed it for this year, and the fellow with the hats to sell, fixes his first day at March 19—and we are up again it.

Speaking Bank Notes.

(Harper's Weekly.)

Making checks or bank notes that are capable of speaking is one of the latest precautions against forgery that has been invented. The note is given the power of utterance by applying to its edge a "pictorial" record of perforations representing some prearranged phrase. When the prepared note is placed in a phonograph the phrase is reproduced in the presence of the person who has questioned the genuineness of the note.

PASTOR PECK FOR "OLD PATHS"

REV. E. E. INGRAM HAS SOMETHING TO SAY OF AMUSEMENTS.

WORLDLINESS GREAT BARRIER

Church Must Recognize Demands for Entertainment—Wax Floors Fore-cast Dust Covered Bible.

At the Central Presbyterian church yesterday morning Rev. E. E. Ingram, the pastor, preached a sermon on "The Old Paths," in which he took occasion to compliment the Waco Morning News and to condemn most severely some plays presented to the Waco public during the past week. He had much to say about the question of amusements, declaring that the desire to be entertained is as much a part of one's makeup as the color of his eyes, and that the church must solve the problem, avoiding all extremes.

His text was taken from Jeremiah 6:16, "Stand ye in the ways, and see, and ask for the old paths, where is the good way, and walk therein, and ye shall find rest for your souls." He said the text covered three things: An earnest exhortation; a masterful motive, and a precious promise. He had time to discuss only the first of these, saying he would probably finish the sermon next Sunday morning. The sermon, in part, follows:

"God is extravagant," said the speaker. "This is easily seen and clearly understood when one pauses for a moment to contemplate the beauty and the grandeur of nature. There is no music like that of God's creation. The forests of the world, from year to year are filled with music unequalled. No higher compliment can be paid a great singer than to say she has the voice of a bird. 'There are no flowers like God's flowers. Simple in their beauty and rich in their fragrance, the handiwork of man cannot approach them. 'His mountains are imposing in their grandeur. His rivers and lakes charm and attract. His valleys are rich in their beauty and fruitfulness. One stands amazed at the extravagant use of divine wisdom and power. 'God's extravagance is seen again when one considers creative genius as exemplified in his highest act of creation—man. Lavishly, indeed, has God created man. Truly, he has made him a little lower than the angels, and crowned him with glory and honor. He is the only one to whom God has given the exalted privilege of reading the Creator's thoughts after His mind.

Man's Welfare His Concern.

Let us go a step further still, and see the extravagance of God in His loving concern for the welfare of man. And this is true whether you look at it from the temporal or spiritual angle of vision. How extravagant He has been in all His care for man. 'Out of this extravagance, God for the welfare of man has come this text. It was because of that divine care that the prophet plead for Israel to return to the old paths and ever follow them. This plea comes to us in the form of an earnest exhortation. 'Stand ye in the ways, and see, and ask for the old paths, and walk therein.' Jeremiah was a great prophet, with a great message. God said to him, 'I have made thee this day a defenced city, and an iron pillar, and brazen walls against the whole land.' His call, you see, was to be a brazen wall between his people and impending disaster. He imagined his people at the forks of the road, and before they go on he inspires them to inquire for the old paths, and finding them, follow them. He wants them to walk the road their fathers traveled, for only therein would they find safety. Subsequent history shows that they failed to heed the prophet, and that to their hurt.

Cites Present Conditions.

In a modest way, today I shall imagine I am standing in the prophet's shoes, and that we, like Israel of old, are at the parting of the ways. I shall stand here, as he stood centuries ago, to plead for some of the old paths our fathers traveled. They have been somewhat obscured, but yet are plain enough to be followed. Jeremiah was pleading for Israel to be faithful to their personal alliance with God. That alliance was the bulwark of their faith. They were fast letting it slip from them. He wanted their old-time fervor to prevail, with its subsequent devotion to the national ideals. But he plead in vain.

There are some almost forgotten customs of our fathers I wish to make a plea for this morning. And as you stand at the forks of the road, so to speak, I ask you to inquire for these old paths and walk therein. 'One of them I shall present under the caption of family religion. Our fathers knew what that expression meant, and so do you, by hearsay at least. Family religion, I fear, is almost lost here these days. It is because we need it less than our fathers did? Who would say that? Or is it because numerous things are crowding religious exercises out of our lives?

"As I see it, worldliness is the greatest barrier to family religion. The church faces today no greater problem than that of amusements. The desire for entertainment is as much a part of us as the color of the eye. The church may as well recognize this fact and meet it with a manly courage. If she fails to furnish wholesome entertainment her members will seek other kinds.

Wilson's Acts Pleading.

"I was pleased when the president-elect asked that the inaugural ball be abolished. I could understand why when I recalled that he was the son of a Presbyterian minister. As such he doubtless had been taught that dancing is an extravagant and often dangerous pastime. You seldom, if ever, see a dancing household and a far, how very far, we have gotten away from it. I wonder where our children will land? May you ask for that old path today, and find it, and walk therein.

"Another old path, still, I wish to enter a plea for, briefly, is that of Sabbath observance. 'Oh, I do not mean the old Puritan Sabbath. I think they went to one extreme, and we have gone, or are fast going, to the other. But I do mean a

Officers Raid Crap Game.
Marlin, Tex., March 9.—Sheriff M. J. Poole and Deputy Sheriff C. C. Wren returned from across the river at 4 o'clock Saturday morning, having one negro and five Mexicans in custody, all being under arrest on gambling charges. They are said to have pulled off regular games of craps and tie-tie on plantations in the vicinity of the Battle farm.

Woman Extinguishes Flames.
Marlin, Tex., March 9.—"First aid to fire quenching" practiced by Mrs. L. E. Cochran, Rose and Island streets, saved her house from probable destruction early yesterday. Members of the household had started a wood fire in a stove in one of the rear rooms and then had gone to other parts of the house. When discovered flames had damaged a window, leaped to the ceiling above, consumed a valuable rug and threatened to destroy the house. A great volume of smoke rushed from the roof and an alarm was turned in by one of the boarders, while Mrs. Cochran dashed several buckets of water on the blaze. When the department arrived the fire was under control. The damage is probably $50.

forty of our dancing church members will go to Heaven along with the rest of us. But I am just a little sceptical as to how many others they will take along with them. To me dancing is a dangerous form of amusement, and is a barrier to family religion.

Scores Modern Stage.

"Still another bar to family religion is the modern stage. I do not wholly condemn the theatre. I shall not say that all plays are bad, and all players sinners above the rest of mankind, nor all playgoers on one of the roads to hell. But I do say that plays of the character of two presented to the Waco public this last week are a disgrace to a cultured and refined community. I speak of the one given at the Auditorium last Monday and Tuesday nights. The first one was shocking, the second one an insult to decent people. And right here I want to compliment the Waco Morning News for its fearless witteup of these two plays. I venture to predict that its comment will not be passed on to other papers. I hope its fearless policy will be continued, and that it will bring down from such plays and players in the future.

"Imagine, if you can, a refined woman's passing through a public gathering kissing the men, even though it be in the play. No matter who such an one may be, every decent man or woman who passes through the next time a coarse and vulgar play is offered the Waco public that they will have the courage to get up and walk out as a protest against such insult to decency. What can we expect from our boys and girls when they witness, with parental approval, such plays? If our church members are going to tolerate such plays, what is to become of personal, as well as family, religion?

Old Path Suggests.

"That was a good old path our fathers walked in the long ago when they awaited religion in the home. How easily we have lost it. We have gotten away from it. I wonder where our children will land? May you ask for that old path today, and find it, and walk therein.

"Another old path, still, I wish to enter a plea for, briefly, is that of Sabbath observance. 'Oh, I do not mean the old Puritan Sabbath. I think they went to one extreme, and we have gone, or are fast going, to the other. But I do mean a Society Notes.

Marlin, Tex., March 9.—Miss Mary Nell Cook gave a delightful little dinner party Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Tassie Gohman of Houston, who is the guest of Miss Rosa Mae Cousins. Covers were laid for eight, each place marked by a dainty card decorated with a Gibson head and tied with yellow ribbon. The color motif of yellow was further carried out in the immense bowl of golden jonquils and ferns that graced the center of the table.

A most appetizing repast was served in five courses, as follows:

Fruit Cocktail
Waldorf Salad
Baked Fish Creole
Almonds
Potatoes
Cheese
Wafers
Roast Turkey with Dressing
Rice
Peas in Patties
Hot Biscuits
Grape Jelly
Marshmallow Baking
Cake
Mints

The four young couples who participated in the entertainment were: Miss Tassie Gohman, Mr. Cuyler Cousins; Miss Rosa Mae Cousins, Mr. Wilson of Cleburne; Miss Lucy Keese, Mr. James Thompson; H. A. Battle and Miss Nell Cousin; Mr. Fonzie Robertson.

A theatre party at the performance of "A Prince for Tonight" finished the evening.

Fair Association Elects.

Marlin, Tex., March 9.—The board of directors of the Falls County Fair association at a meeting Saturday elected Joseph L. Littoral of Hlevins, manager of the fair, and chose the dates August 5-6-7-8, 1913, for the first fair to meet under the present management.

Mr. Littoral has taken an enthusiastic interest in the success of the fair from the beginning, and his selection for manager means that the fair will be conducted strictly on business principles, which means that it is going to be a success.

Sunday Shows.

"But with all my heart I do believe that Sunday baseball and the Sunday moving picture shows are demoralizing. There is a lurking suspicion in my heart that the latter can be stopped, if the proper officers had the courage to do so. As for distant day Sunday baseball will be a thing of the past.

"Many a church member who can find one excuse or another for staying away from church on Sunday will be found at the baseball park in the afternoon—all difficulties and troubles having vanished like the dew before the morning sun.

"Count me for those things on Sunday that elevate, and refresh body, mind and soul, and against those things that debauch and degrade, no matter under what name they may be known, or under what guise they may come to us.

"These are two of the old paths we need to travel along once more. We have lost them. The savor of the world and the love of pleasure have let us stray. May we stand in the ways, and see, and ask for the old paths, and walk therein."

Diplomatically Put.

(State Press, Galveston News.)
Waco News: Senator Emilia Rabasa, Mexico's new ambassador to the United States, should take comfort in the fact that disclosures of the past month remove all necessity for him to emulate the mendacity record of his illustrious predecessor.

To be sure, the situation is just at present unobscured by hazy conjectures and filmy fabrics of fraudulent intent. The real hand of administration is wearing a gauntlet of steel and the vendetta is in vogue. But the situation may any day develop an opacity to claim from the government's bad faith that has become a chapter in the history of the continent. The diplomats of Mexico must be called upon any time to play the game in a manner that is not entirely in accordance with the teachings that deprecate untruth.

ARBITRATORS TO START HEARING

THREE MEN TO DECIDE DIFFICULTIES OF FIREMEN AND RAILROADS.

WAGES PROBLEM FOR RULINGS

Both Sides Will Make Efforts to Demonstrate That Their Contentions Are Correct.

New York, March 9.—Three men will meet in this city tomorrow to arbitrate under the Erdman act the difficulties between fifty-four eastern railroads and their 35,000 firemen. Public sessions will be held from day to day to hear the evidence presented by the parties to the dispute.

The board, which was named after prolonged negotiations between the conference committee of managers of the roads and a committee representing the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, consists of W. W. Atterbury, vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad; Albert Phillips, third vice president of the firemen's organization; and Wm. L. Chambers of Washington, formerly chief justice of the international court of Samoa and a member of the Spanish treaty claims commission. Mr. Chambers was named by government officials, designated in the Erdman law as the third or neutral member of the board, after the representatives of the firemen and the roads had failed to agree upon a man.

The decision of the board must be rendered before April 21 and from then there can be no appeal. The dispute has been in progress more than a year and at one time last month, through the failure of the two parties to agree upon a method of arbitration, threatened to result in a strike of the firemen of the eastern roads serving a territory populated by 50,000,000.

The firemen had voted almost unanimously in favor of a strike if their demands for arbitration by a board of three members under the Erdman act was not granted, while the roads held out for arbitration by a board of six or seven members, such as had a few months before adjusted a similar dispute between the roads and their engineers.

At the last moment a committee of railroad managers gave in under protest and on February 13 reference of the difference to an arbitration board under the Erdman law was agreed upon.

Problem One of Wages.

The problem to be solved by the board is essentially one of wages. The firemen ask for increases based upon the size of locomotives fired, which would give them a wage of from $2.40 to $4 a day of ten hours or less. On the heavier engines who firemen are demanded. The railroads, while conceding that the firemen ought to have more pay, declare their demands excessive and estimate that the increased cost to the lines would aggregate $9,000,000 a year, or 35 per cent of firemen's present wages.

It is expected that the roads will seek to demonstrate to the arbitration board that something must give way if the railroads are allowed to maintain an upward pressure on wages it should recommend to the commission keeps freight rates and passenger rates down, and that if the board grants the firemen an increase in wages it should recommend to the commission proportionate advances in rates.

The firemen, according to President Carter of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, will bend their efforts to the task of proving their demands for increases are justified in themselves, regardless of what rates the roads are permitted to charge the public.

SUN TAKES PEEP AT SOLDIERS

Troops at Galveston and Texas City Brighten With Prospects of Clear Sky.

Galveston, March 9.—The sun peeped from behind banks of cloud for a time this morning and faces of officers and men of the Second division of the United States army now encamped at Galveston and Texas City brightened. Little rain has fallen today and the camp sites have improved considerably, although the camps are still too wet for any drills or practice marches of any kind. Activity of the men consist chiefly in transplanting supplies for men and mules. It is expected, however, that practice marches will be resumed Monday.

Lieutenant Colonel James B. Houston, assistant quartermaster, will resume paying dividends of the division at Texas City Monday. Two paymasters will begin paying the Fourth and Fifth brigades of infantry encamped there. About $45,000 has been paid to the men to date. The pay roll for the month, including officers' accounts, will amount to $450,000.

Colonel William Paulding, commanding the Fourth infantry, arrived today and assumed command of his regiment. Colonel Paulding has been in the Philippines in command of the Twenty-fourth infantry and has just returned to the United States. Lieutenant Colonel E. F. Taggart has been temporarily in charge of the regiment.

POLICE PROBLEM NEEDS NEW LAWS

ALDERMANIC COMMITTEE SO FINDS AFTER INVESTIGATION OF CONDITIONS.

REPORT IS READY FOR BOARD

Investigators Find Shocking Evidence of Corrupt Alliance Between Officers and Gamblers.

New York, March 9.—The police problem of New York City is primarily one of administration, according to the preliminary legislative report of the aldermanic committee, appointed to investigate police conditions, which was made public today.

The present situation, the report says, demands "sustained administrative efficiency."

The report will be submitted to the board of aldermen tomorrow, and if approved, copies will be sent to the governor, lieutenant governor and the members of the state assembly and senate at Albany.

The principle of home rule predominates in the report. The committee urges that the question of opening liquor stores on Sunday be left to the local legislative authorities. Much space is given to the administration side of the police department.

"We have received shocking evidence of a widespread corrupt alliance between the police and gamblers and disorderly house keepers," the report says, "the elimination of this grafting is one of the most difficult and important problems with which we are confronted. We feel that a police commissioner with a fixed tenure with an adequate staff of deputy commissioners, with an ample fund for the employment of a secret service entirely outside of the department would insure the security and maintain an administrative efficiency that would reduce this evil to a minimum."

The committee opposes the proposal for two departments for the enforcement of the laws and for the prevention of gambling and suppression of the so-called social evil. In this connection, the report says: "To place the responsibility in the hands of 200 or 300 'moral policemen' would have the tendency to lose the information which would result from the daily observation of 10,000 policemen covering every square inch of the city of New York. Evidence before us has shown that a proper system of reports from the latter would be of inestimable value to a commissioner in ascertaining conditions and enforcing these laws."

The committee recommends that a law be enacted authorizing the police department to photograph and make finger prints and measurements of all persons held by a magistrate or on a bench warrant on a charge constituting a felony.

NEW COTTON CROP ATTRACTS

Pending Final Report of Ginning By Census Bureau Also Is Being Awaited.

New Orleans, March 9.—The main influence of the cotton market this week will be new crop preparations, although a great deal of interest will be taken in the pending final report on ginning by the census bureau and opinion regarding the final figures will crystallize.

As the trade understands the new crop situation, the cotton belt needs generally dry weather, with occasional showers. The soil is in good condition but needs a little top moisture to allow plowing to go ahead. Too much rain would, of course, be unfavorable and, if too long continued, would probably cause considerable short covering and buying for long account.

From the reports that have been coming from the belt of late, too dry weather would lead to much complaint and droughty conditions too long continued would cause fear that seed would be slow in germinating. This week planting will extend considerably in the earlier sections of the belt and many cotton farmers will begin planting their corn. Bears expect to get reports that will confirm their opinion that the acreage and the use of fertilizers will be materially increased this season. Anything that will tend to overturn this idea will give the short side a set back.

The export movement and mill takings, both of which have been small of late, will be closely watched this week and any improvement of a substantial nature in either will be of assistance to the bull side, as would any improvement in the spot demand. March generally is a busy spot and export month, but bears predict it will be unusually dull this year. A good line of March spot commitments will be obtained during the next few days owing to the maturing of middle-of-the-month obligations and developments in this direction may have an influence in both the spot and future markets.

The future market will be more of a weather market this week, barring the influence of private estimates of the total amount of cotton ginned this last season.

FAIR WEATHER IS PROMISED

Fair Skies for Week Is Forecast of Government Man—No Storms in Sight.

Washington, March 9.—Spring-time weather, with fair skies and normal temperatures is promised for the coming week to all sections of the country by the weather bureau.

"The distribution of pressure over the northern hemisphere," says the bureau's weekly bulletin, "is such as to indicate that the temperature during the current week will average near the normal over practically all parts of the country. Precipitation during the week will be generally light and local. It is not probable that any general storm will cross the country during the week."

SOLICITOR GENERAL RESIGNS.

Abram I. Elkus of New York, counsel for the democratic national committee, is prominently mentioned as Mr. Bullitt's probable successor.

BRANDY ON ROANOKE ISLAND.

Supposed to Have Been Buried By Members of White's Colony.

(Elizabeth City, N. J., Correspondence to the Richmond Times-Dispatch.) A find of much historical interest was made on Roanoke Island a few days ago when two young boys named Meekins found a dozen bottles of brandy which are at least 50 years old.

The boys were walking around the shore line on the north end of the island when they saw some bottles sticking up out of the water. They investigated and found that there were a dozen of them arranged in three rows. The bottom of the bottles were secretly fastened in the clay of the shore line. When they were removed they were found to be in perfect condition and securely corked, the corks having rotted away and the mouths of the bottles having been filled with sand which had been cemented over. The boys sampled a bottle and found its contents to be very palatable, so much so that they drank too much and it went to their heads. They summoned their father, who recognized at once the value of the discovery.

This brandy was found about 50 yards north of Huger's fort, and it is believed that it was buried in the earth by the Yankee soldiers when they occupied this fort. It has remained there for all these years until the winds and tides ate away the land from around it and laid it bare.

The bottles had not been removed from their first resting place as underneath the bottles was found a piece of rotten plank, which evidently was a part of the bottom of the case. Some believe that this case of brandy is of very great age, having been buried here by the colonists of John White's colony, as the find was made in the neighborhood of the site of Raleigh's old fort.

SHIP DISASTER PROBE

DYNAMITE EXPERTS INCLINE TO THEORY OF SPONTANEOUS COMBUSTION.

One Arrest Is Made—Survivors of the Ill-fated Steamer Tell Conflicting Tales.

Baltimore, March 9.—Although William J. Bonhardt, assistant foreman of the stevedores employed in loading the dynamite ship Alum Chine, which blew up in the lower harbor here Friday, is under arrest charged with the act which caused the disaster, dynamite experts still incline to the theory that spontaneous combustion in the coal bunkers of the vessel caused the disaster.

Bonhardt was arrested early this morning after Coroner Resell, of the Eastern police district, had taken the statement of Morris Price, a stevedore, who said he saw Bonhardt stick a bale hook into a box of dynamite and cause its explosion. The coroner says the statement of Price is supported by other stevedores, who were in the immediate vicinity.

Bonhardt denies the use of the bale hook but admits that the box of dynamite exploded while he was handling it. His theory is that the dynamite, which had been frozen, had blistered and that the friction caused by the blisters on two adjoining sticks produced the explosion.

Contrasting with these stories are the statements of others aboard the Alum Chine that they heard no explosion whatever before they saw smoke and flames pouring from the hold of the ship.

Attempts to reconcile the stories of Bonhardt and Price with the views of possibilities held by the experts have been made. One is based on the idea that fire in the bunkers of the Alum Chine ignited the dynamite at the time the stevedores thought the explosion occurred.

The second theory is that the bale hook was thrust, not into a box of dynamite, but into a box of percussion caps. This would have produced, perhaps, a minor explosion.

The coroner's inquest will be held tomorrow night.

One more name—that of Andrew Morrison, a stevedore—has been added to the list of casualties. He died in a hospital last night. Others of the injured showed improvement today.

Memorial services were held in most of the city churches today for the men who lost their lives in the tragedy.

Engineers of the United States army under command of Col. L. H. Beach, chief engineer of the Baltimore office, will take full charge tomorrow of the wreck of the Alum Chine and attend to the removal of the debris from the channel and its proximity.

The engineers are inclined to think that a large proportion of the 600 tons of dynamite is lying unexploded where it fell.

Watch repairing a specialty. ARMSTRONG & PFAEFFLE.

COLQUITT PARDONS 70

TWENTY OF NUMBER ARE TO BOYS IN TRAINING SCHOOL.

Release of Two Swedes Remains Tragic at Houston—Santa Fe Merger Bln Considered.

Austin, Tex., March 9.—Governor Colquitt spent the day in his office investigating applications for pardons from about 100 prisoners in the penitentiaries and a number of boys confined in the juvenile training school. As a result he granted in the neighborhood of seventy pardons. About twenty are to boys in the training school and the balance to convicts in the penitentiaries.

He stated as an example of the need of a thorough investigation of the records of prisoners confined in the penitentiaries, the case of two Swedes by the name of Johnson and Thompson whom he pardoned today. Seventeen years ago they lived in Besque county and went to Houston to see the sights. While there they were arrested on suspicion of murdering a man who was killed in a resort and convicted on the testimony of a woman of loose character. At the time neither could speak English and the governor is convinced that they were not given a fair trial. He said that pardoning them gave him more satisfaction than anything that he had done in a long time.

The governor is still considering the Santa Fe merger bill. It is understood that he does not find it unconstitutional or objectionable. He has stated that he does not believe that any of the objections that were made to the Katy merger applies to this bill, as the roads to be consolidated, with one exception, were built by the Santa Fe and are in no way competing roads.

Trivoli Opera House Opening.

San Francisco, Cal., March 9.—Musicians in San Francisco and vicinity are agog in anticipation of the opening this week of the magnificent new Trivoli opera house which has been erected on the site of the famous old Trivoli. In respect to size, the luxury of its interior furnishings and the completeness of its stage equipment the new Trivoli will bear comparison with the finest opera houses in America. The formal opening has been set for next Wednesday night, when the Chicago-Philadelphia Opera company will present Luisa Tetraxini in "Rigoletto."

New York, March 9.—Levi P. Morton, former vice president, passed a comfortable night and was decidedly better today. His condition, despite the improvement, is still grave.

British Steamer Ashore.

Key West, March 9.—The British steamer Howth Head is ashore off Molasses Reef tonight. The United States revenue cutter Miami is standing by the ship and giving assistance. The Howth Head is reported to be leaking badly.

DOPE FORECAST OF TEXAS TEAMS

PANTHERS LOOK MORE PROMISING WITH EBERLINE IN LINEUP.

STAND-PATTERNS AT HOUSTON

San Antonio Has Strong Corps of Pitchers, Nothing More, According to Early Outlook.

BY G. A. WALKER.
"Scrapiron" Eberline, the first baseman who electrified the Texas league two seasons back, will wear a Fort Worth uniform this season, according to an announcement made by Manager Morris of the Panthers. The heat was too intense for the All-American when he made his debut with the Texas league and he declined to sign a contract last season. Since that time Eberline has spent much of his time in Southern California and became acclimated to hot summers.

The Panthers have been picking up materially during the last month and Morris now has a team in line that could be possible contenders if the packing house village gives the proper support to maintain the club throughout the season. Salm is a good first sacker and can take care of the position if Morris can develop Eberline to play some other position.

The Houston fans are not over enthusiastic over the stand-pat plan adopted by Manager Dock Roberts. With the exceptions of Pitchers Foster and Edmondson and Dade Crist, the Buffaloes will use about the same lineup.

Crist has joined the Southern league. The lineup is plenty strong as it stands, but the Houston fandon think there are too many old-timers. Both Whitman and Davis, the hard-hitting outfielders, are nearing the critical age and Pitcher Jack Rose is supposed to have been on the to-boggon for years. First Baseman Newman is slowing up a little, and is expected the Houston club will have a harder time to get so far in the lead by July 4.

San Antonio Has Good Pitchers.
The San Antonio club, under the management of Stinson, is doubtless a strong lineup of pitchers, and outside of this department his team appears weak. Heinie Metz will be sadly missed at first base. He was the premier hitter of the league last season. Collins, released last season, seems to be the most likely candidate for this job, and Seltz will hold down second despite his weakness with the stick. The other jobs will be held down by recruits.

It has been the experience of Texas league managers that the leading players with the clubs around the circuit are native sons. The importations from the North stand the gaff good until about July 4 and then wilt before the hot weather that holds them in their grips during July and August. Dock Roberts, Walter Morris and George Ledy are three managers who will give a Texas boy preference over other recruits.

Carson, Navigator manager, has depended largely upon the judgment of Bill Rennard, who is a Buckeye, and in consequence many of his recruits are from Ohio and adjoining states. Jimmy Maloney, manager of the Galveston club, has signed a good many St. Louis boys, being a Kerry Patch product himself, while Joe Gardner also likes the Ohio and Missouri brand. Eddie Wheeler, pilot of the Beaumont club, thinks there are no players like the Hoosiers. He hails from Terre Haute.

The Dallas team, which was in an inchoate state last season, gradually is rounding into form and will be a formidable shape at the beginning of the season. Some of the veteran pitchers and a few of the infielders and all of the outfielders will be in harness. In addition a number of recruits have been signed. Dale Gear made a big hole in the right side of the infield when he drafted Ens and Forsythe to play with Topeka in the Western circuit.

CENTRAL TEXAS BIG TRACK MEET AT WACO APRIL 5

The proposed Central Texas track meet that had its inception in the mind of Ralph Glaze, Baylor university coach, some weeks ago will be held on Carroll field April 5, and between sixty and seventy-five high schools over the state will send entries. The meeting will be under the auspices of the Central Texas High School association. Each school will be limited to ten men who can participate.

The events will be a 50-yard dash, 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 440-yard dash, 880-yard dash, mile run, mile relay, 120-yard low hurdle, 312-pound hammer throw, 12-pound shot put, pole vault, discus throw, running high jump and running broad jump. The faculty committee in charge of athletic events at Baylor university has decided to offer the medals. This action was taken at the suggestion of Ralph Glaze, who believes that everything should be done to stimulate interest in track meets, especially to interest the high school athletes in this line of sport.

The only stipulation made, according to Acting Secretary L. F. McKay of Temple, will be that every athlete who enters must be a bona fide student and doing satisfactory work at school. Arrangements are being made to bring about 500 of the best high school athletes in the state here on the date of the meet.

JUDGING HIS SUCCESS

"BILL" HAYDEN ATTRACTS ATTENTION IN WACO BASEBALL GRAND STAND.

Scout Has Gathered Fortune by Selling Ball Players—Says He Is Here Looking.

A man who has made a fortune judging ball players better than any minor league manager occupied a seat in the Katy park grandstand Saturday and scored the game on a small note book. His name is William Hayden, better known as Bill Hayden, and he is somewhat of a baseball magnate. He now owns the Burlington, Iowa, club and the Kankakee, Ill. club. The Kankakee club finished fourth in the Illinois-Missouri league and Burlington finished third in the Central association.

The latest thing that has happened to Bill is the Waco people have mistaken him for President Hedges of the St. Louis Browns, but this does not worry the baseball scout, who picks up his own material and runs two ball clubs to bring out players.

Earle Hamilton, the young portlander who aided materially in pulling St. Louis out of the cellar position in the American league race, perhaps never would have pitched in a big league had it not been for Hayden. He saw talent in this young twirler in 1906 when he had a ball club in Southern Missouri. Later Hayden broke into the Western association and used Hamilton on the Joplin club. He sold him to St. Louis for a good handsome addition to the fortune of $500,000 or more he has amassed through mining interests and selling ball players. Hamilton is only one of the score or more of big leaguers who got their start with Hayden.

"I am just looking over both the St. Louis club and the Waco club to see what the managers might have to discard," Hayden said when he was in conversation with the writer. It is his policy never to purchase a ball player. On the other hand, he takes the discards if they show talent and waits for them to develop.

When Jim Stewart stepped to the plate to hit the first time in Saturday's exhibition game with the Browns there was a visible smile on the face of Earle Hamilton, the southpaw who romped away with the strike-out record in the American league for one game—14—and who pitched a no-hit game against Detroit August 30 last year, and those who could see Stewart say he also was smiling. An interesting story explains the mutual smile of understanding.

Before Hamilton joined big league company he was pitching in the Western association. Joplin was playing Muskogee and the game had gone thirteen innings with Joplin leading by one run. The first half. One man was on and Stewart came to the bat. Hamilton had two strikes on him and the next ball he threw he expected Stewart to watch for a wide one and he shot it straight across. Stewart smashed it square on the nose and sent the horseshoe over the left field fence for a homer.

"You won't do that today," someone heard Hamilton say, and Stewart fanned out Saturday.

If Baylor Has Poor Baseball Team Not Fault of the Coach

Ralph Glaze undoubtedly is one of the best baseball coaches in the southwest. At least this is the opinion some of the old players with the St. Louis Browns in training at Waco entertain of the ex-Boston Red Sox pitcher, and the Browns will have an opportunity to see what the Baylor team can do when the recruits play the collegians Wednesday on Carroll field.

Glaze has not decided upon any certain lineup, but it appears from the way he is working his men in practice that he will send Williams to take care of first base, although there are other candidates that look good, "Ping" Collier, a pitcher and a heavy stickler, has been switched to second a time or two in practice games and likely he will be played regular. Three shortstops are in line for that position. They are Ballard, a new man with the squad; Robinson and Story. McMahon likely will play third. Wildman will cover right field, Smith center, and Franklow or Newman left field. Captain Mendenhall will do the

JOHNNY EVERS.

JOE TINKER
GEORGE STALLINGS.

Frank Chance, who built the wonderful Cub machine, has a squad of forty players training at Bermuda and is the first baseball manager to lead will so direct the Yanks this season to cause trouble around the American league circuit.

Johnny Evers, a failure in the shoe business and a wonder on the diamond, will manage the Cubs and explain everything to C. Fancystart Murphy, when the little bear breaks into the goose eggs crate.

Joe Tinker has purchased himself a manager's uniform and will try to congregate a winning aggregation at Cincinnati.

George Stallings will add a volume of baseball lore to the five-foot shelf of the cultured Boston Braves, and will explain the construction of the pennant and the value of owning the flag that has long since forgotten the physical appearance of the championship hunting.

On the Big League Checkerboard

A large number of major league players have been traded to other clubs or released to the minors, since the close of last season, and several well-known stars will be missed from their former teams when the gong rings for the opening of the 1913 season. A list of the players traded, together with the players sent to the minors, and those who have been in the big show before and are now coming back for another trial, follows:

HARVARD AFTER MEET.

National Track and Field Meet Under Discussion.
Boston, March 9.—A proposal to have the national track and field championship next summer held at the Harvard stadium under the auspices of the Boston Athletic association is being considered by officials of that club.

The probability that the English athletes of Oxford and Cambridge universities will be here for their meeting with Harvard and Yale about the time the championship would be held has been mentioned as likely to give an international flavor to the competitions this year.

Boston, March 9.—Fire caused a loss of $75,000 in the wholesale millinery district today. The firms sustaining losses by fire and water were the Eastern Millinery Company and David Banash & Son, millinery goods.

RAIN STOPS PLAY AND PLAYERS LOAF

STOVAL'S AGGREGATION DO BENCH WARMING INSTEAD OF PLAYING.

EXHIBITION GAME TUESDAY

Wednesday the Brown Recruits Play Baylor on Carroll Field—Veterans at Corsicana.

Bench warming was the chief and sole occupation of the St. Louis Browns yesterday and the benches were not like the ones usually found at a baseball park. Outside of a swim in the pool at the Natatorium hotel the players did not exercise extensively. The rain prevented the game with the Waco club and made the field too heavy for practice.

If the diamond at the Cotton Palace park is in condition today Stoval will put his men through a hard workout. Commencing today he will have two practice periods. Tuesday he will send a mixed veteran and recruit team against Carson's Navigators for the second exhibition game of the season. The game will be played at Katy park.

The following day the Brown recruits, under the leadership of Lou Criger, the veteran player who is coaching the team, will play the Baylor squad on Carroll field. The veterans will go to Corsicana with Stoval for a game the same day.

The Philadelphia Athletics are here Thursday for a game with the Waco team and Connie Mack will bring all of the old players who assisted in winning two world's series.

The Browns will leave Saturday for an invasion in Houston and Beaumont. Stoval will take the veterans to Houston and Lou Criger will pilot the recruits through the game with the Browns.

President Hedges of the St. Louis Americans is due here Wednesday. It was reported that he had abandoned the idea of coming south with the team this season, but he has arranged business so that he can get away from St. Louis and will look over the list of recruits Stoval has signed to strengthen the team.

Second Baseman Pratt, who has been ill since the Browns reached Waco Tuesday, is fast improving and will don a uniform today if he does not suffer a relapse. He was able to write a few letters yesterday. Catcher McAllister, drafted from the Montgomery club in the Southern league, reported yesterday. Leverage, fourth baseman from the Los Angeles club, is in Chicago and Stoval expects him to report most any time. It is said that Leverage is holding out for more salary and Hedges has offered him every cent the new ruling of the National Baseball Commission allows a major league to offer a player from an inferior class organization.

The Theatres

A press notice says:

"No attraction announced by the Auditorium theatre management of the current season has stirred up a greater local interest than the engagement of Neil O'Brien, the popular and famous minstrel, who with his organization of fifty people will appear Tuesday, matinee and night, in an entertainment of minstrelsy described as quite the most elaborate and biggest production of its kind the American stage has witnessed since the inception of burnt-cork comedy. Neil O'Brien is known to the vast majority of the stagegoers through his long association with Lew Dockstader and other minstrel companies. As the principal comedian and leading attraction with Dockstader, Mr. O'Brien gained much renown and fame and by his sincere efforts combined with his brilliant compliments as a comedian, he has established a following of admirers who will doubtless give him a cordial welcome at the head of his own organization. Mr. O'Brien and his manager, Oscar Hodge, realizing that minstrelsy, when properly presented, will always find favor with American audiences, have conceived several decided innovations and have put in the field this season an organization and production that is sure to command attention. In numbers, the company is the largest, and the scenic accessories the most mammoth and costly which the stage has recently offered for this style of entertainment."

Louis Mann on Superstitions.

A press notice says:

"Theatrical folk have always been accepted as the most superstitious body in the world, but Louis Mann, who comes here Wednesday evening, March 12th, for one night only, in 'Elevating a Husband,' in a course of conversation, has brought several instances of acute superstition to light which would seem to prove that there are equally violent cases among the people in other walks of life. For instance, Mr. Mann discovered from a newspaper in Paris that if in France you dream of eggs or see a vision of dirty water, that means trouble. If you see a fire in your sleep, you may be happy—that signifies good luck. To dream of blood means a victory. To dream of babies is bad, and if you see cats in your dreams—Mr. Mann was assured—you have an enemy. If, on the other hand, your slumbers are disturbed by the coming of a horse, you may turn on the other side with the pleasing assurance that you have a good friend. The French are convinced that the appearance of a comet signifies massacres and war, but they believe, too, that it makes the wine better. A man who turns a loaf of bread upside down, puts his right foot on first, or lights three cigarettes with the same match, is laying up trouble for himself. If one wishes to steer clear of misfortune, one should not try on mourning garments when one is not in mourning, nor cut through a marriage cortege."

A. G. Haight, of Brooklyn, N. Y., has set out to visit every state capital in the United States. He journeys afoot.

E. C. Benedict has bought a hotel in Greenwich, Conn., and will demolish it, so he can add the ground to his large estate there.

MADERO RULE BRIEF

DEAD EX-PRESIDENT OF MEXICO WAS A VICTIM OF HUMANENESS.

The slain Statesman and Military Leader a Non-Fighting Man. Believed in Spirits.

It seems the irony of fate that Francisco I. Madero's death should have come during the ascendancy of two men—Huerta and Diaz—both of whom had been the recipients of mercy at his hands. Huerta when Madero was triumphing over Porfirio Diaz in the early spring of 1911, and Diaz only a few months ago, when the revolution had started in Vera Cruz proved a fiend, and he fell a prisoner into the hands of the Madero government.

From the moment his triumph was complete in May, 1911, and he had established his provisional capital in the adobe city of Juarez, opposite El Paso, Texas, the troubles of Francisco I. Madero, Jr., may be said to have begun. As a commander of the humble insurgents who fought under Orozco, Blanco, Castillo and Villa, Madero had proved to be a success, and had been able to compass the overthrow of the powerful Diaz. But when Porfirio Diaz sailed away from Vera Cruz in May, 1911, and left the country entirely in the hands of Madero's persons who watched the events that followed soon discovered that the little man had a burden much too heavy for a man of his mental stature.

Madero ruled Mexico as the successor of Porfirio Diaz less than two years having been elected president on September 20, 1911. From the outset, his administration was a failure. His brother Gustavo was generally conceded to be the real man in power, and so great did his influence in national affairs become that Gustavo at the time of the Diaz-Reyes coup of two weeks ago, was known as the most hated man in all Mexico.

Merciful to His Enemies. From the moment he set up his capital at Juarez, as provisional president, until he went to Mexico City to succeed to the presidency, Madero was confronted with most vexing problems of government and had to contend with dissensions among both his own followers and the opposition. His foes did not hesitate to predict that his rule would be short and that he would prove to be the biggest failure in the history of Mexico.

Despite the fact that he had led a revolution which ousted Diaz, the most powerful man that Mexico had ever produced, he was essentially a non-fighting man. He was a believer in spirits and a vegetarian. He hated blood and could never, even at the earnest solicitations of his friends, do things in the old Diaz way. Reyes and Felix Diaz both fell into his hands after starting revolutions against him, and neither was put to death as his friends demanded, and the revolution against him—the latter to cause his murder.

Francisco Madero came of one of the great families of Mexico. More than a score of close relatives were in the government, and this fact, coupled with his recent unpopularity, caused much of his recent unpopularity. His refusal to give the Vasquez-Gomez faction what it wanted took away many of his followers. Then came the desertion of Pascual Orozco, who was Madero's right hand man in the revolution, and the revolution in Chihuahua, which has lasted more than a year. Zapata, in the central part of the republic, also was angered by refusal to recognize his demands and has said Senator Juhl. "Where does the difference come from?"

"They live at home and it comes from the parents."

"Then you take all of a girl's time and skill and expect her parents to help pay her wages?"

"We have been considering placing the minimum wage at $8."

Witness said he had devoted much time to the wage question as it affects women, and that a woman can live on $8 a week. He promised to give the commission a schedule of the expenses of a working girl.

"What we want," said Senator Juhl, "is what also must spend. Never mind the pleasure. I suppose when we make a law we'll have to add a dollar or two for recreation, and the like."

Lytton was emphatic in stating that his concern could well afford a minimum of $2 a day. He said all big corporations could do so.

Declares Wages Have No Connection.

Joseph Basch, second vice president of Siegel, Cooper & Co., who was the next witness, said that wages and immorality had no relation. "I believe that immorality is a state of mind. I believe our girls are moral. I think only a very small per cent of them could be persuaded to take the 'easiest way.'"

Siegel Cooper & Co. employ 1250 girls, about half of whom receive $3 or less.

The witness pointed out, as did Mr. Simpson, at a previous session, that an increase of minimum wage meant an increase all along the line. The girls already getting $12 must be advanced to $15, the $15 girls to $20 and so on. Employees must be paid according to their comparative abilities.

Basch did not view the wage system with any alarm.

"The promotion is very rapid in the State street stores," he remarked. "The woman who comes to us this year at $6, for instance, in two years very readily may be earning $18 a week. The low salaries go to learners, and development is rapid."

Asked if Siegel Cooper & Co. could pay a minimum wage scale of $12, Basch said that they could for skilled services, but not for unskilled.

WILSON'S PLANS CREATING TASK

DEMOCRAT LEADERS MAKING URGENT PLEA FOR TWO OTHER SUBJECTS.

CURRENCY MEASURE NEEDED

President Also is Asked for Immediate Consideration of Legislation Pertaining to Alaska.

Washington, March 10.—President Wilson may find a harder task before him than Democratic leaders expected, to carry out their plans to restrict congress to the consideration of the tariff alone at the special session announced for April 1.

Although the special session still is three weeks away the president heard urgent pleas in behalf of two subjects which Democrats of influence believe should be taken up as soon as possible.

Representative Glass, committee chairman of the house committee on banking and currency, urged the necessity for immediate consideration of the currency reform and former State Chairman Heiner of Washington asked the president for the immediate enactment of legislation looking to the development of Alaska. Mr. Glass left the white house convinced a currency measure might be partly perfected at the special session, though hardly likely to be passed.

Mr. Heiner was assured of a further hearing at which senators and members of the house interested in Alaska will have an extended hearing. Their efforts will be directed toward having the president support a plan proposed by the Alaskan railway commission for the construction of several railways designed to open the coal fields of that territory.

Senate for Tariff Only.

Assurance came from senate leaders late today, however, that the "tariff only" program could be carried through successfully in that branch of congress. Any bitterness which may have developed as a result of the recent senate caucuses, the president was told, will not interfere with a strict adherence to a policy of tariff revision and that alone.

Progressive Republicans, not approached yet by Democratic leaders, are expected to fall in line with the dominant party. The president will not face the condition which confronted Mr. Taft when he called the special session in the Alaska railway bill.

The president's proclamation calling congress in special session probably will be written later in the week. In it, or in his message to congress after it convenes, he is expected to point out the need for tariff reform.

Brandeis Visits Wilson.

Louis D. Brandeis of Boston, who was frequently mentioned for a post in the Wilson cabinet, had a long conference with the president at the white house tonight. It was the first time they had met since the day preceding the election in November, when Mr. Wilson was campaigning in Massachusetts.

Mr. Brandeis declined to discuss his visit. It was definitely learned tonight, however, that he will not be associated in any official connection with the administration, but will be frequently consulted when the anti-trust reforms are undertaken. It is known that the president entertains a high regard for his views on the question of strengthening the Sherman anti-trust law, the regulation of the competition, and the curbing of monopoly practices.

Barber Shops Open Sunday.

Washington, March 10.—Men who on Sunday morning had been used to wrestling with either a "straight blade" razor or a safety shaving apparatus, are downcast today. Yesterday for the first time in years they were able to go to barber shops to have their visages improved, but today it was declared that the police court ruling which permitted barber shops to keep open on Sundays probably would be held null and void.

To Succeed McNeal.

Lockhart, Tex., March 10.—The vacancy in the legislature caused by the death of Thomas McNeal will be filled Tuesday, Frank Tiller and Harvey King, both of Luling are the only candidates.

There are two congressional announcements for the Burleson vacancy. Calhoun of Travis and Buchanan of Washington are candidates.

Dallas Commissioner Declares Rewards Should Not Be Accepted By City Detectives.

Dallas, March 10.—Drastic orders will be issued by Commissioner Louis Blaylock forbidding the acceptance of rewards or presents by members of the Dallas detective department.

The police commissioner says that it has been reported to him that members of the detective bureau have been in the habit of accepting rewards from Dallas people in recognition of services performed in recovering property or arresting individuals.

"The acceptance of rewards by detectives makes a distinction between rich and poor," Mr. Blaylock declares. "It is only human nature that an officer will be keener and pay greater attention to the investigation of a case if he knows that his success will be paid by a monetary reward. Rich and poor look alike to me and the poor man in Dallas is entitled to just the same efforts on the part of the detectives as is his richer brother."

"In accepting rewards without the written permission of the chief of police and the police commissioner members of the detective department have violated section 18 of the police regulations which refers to this matter. After the issuance of the order, which I am planning, any detective taking money or valuable gifts for services performed will have charges preferred against him."

In discussing the reward question, Mr. Blaylock says that the uniformed officers have obeyed the rules. He says a man whom he knows carries a good salary in a Dallas mercantile house applied to him for the position of a detective. Asking the man why he wanted to work for lower wages, the applicant told him that he could pick up a good deal of money in rewards. The detectives are paid $90 a month, while patrolmen earn from $60 to $77.50.

A letter and telegram were received here notifying the local officers that the men were W. F. Collins and D. A. Luddingham. The men claim they know nothing of the charges in Oklahoma, and may require the Ardmore officers to make requisition for them.

Judge Richard L. Munroe, having been called suddenly to New Orleans, E. C. Street was elected special judge to preside over the Fifty-fourth district court this week in his absence. WOMEN POLICE MAYOR'S AIM

Chicago Executive Believes Better Results Can Be Obtained.

Chicago, March 10.—Mayor Carter H. Harrison returned to Chicago from New York last night with a plan for having women police here. It is said it might be possible to have several women placed as inspectors when the police reorganization plan is effected.

"It is the policy of the city to have a squad of say twenty or thirty police women," said the mayor. "I believe they would handle many matters of police work better than men do. For instance in vice work, investigating the habits of young women who are held in resorts and similar places they could get much better results than men."

President Gomez Still Silent.

Havana, March 10.—No official announcement has yet been made that President Gomez has vetoed the general amnesty bill and the indications are that the government probably will delay the publication of this action in order to avert the storm of anti-American indignation which the veto is sure to arouse. It also will give time for a conference of the leaders of both parties so that some agreement can be reported regarding a new front which the features of the American indignation which the veto is sure to arouse.

MADERO'S DECLARE FOR PEACE

Statement of Contentions of Family Announced to Public.

New York, March 10.—Ernesto Madero, former minister of finance in the Mexican cabinet, who arrived here last week, issued a statement today in behalf of himself and the members of the Madero family.

Mr. Madero declared it was the intention of the Madero family to refrain from participation in politics in Mexico. He said it was the hope of all the Maderos that peace soon would come to the southern republic.

"Before leaving Mexico City we assured the officials of the present provisional government that it was not our purpose to take any part whatever in Mexican politics," the statement said. "We told them that we proposed to proceed to the United States and to remain there until political conditions in Mexico should become settled. There will be no change of this policy."

"It is not true, as has been reported, that any member of the Madero family contemplates organizing any movement against the present government of Mexico or to take any part whatever in such a movement. It is the sincerest desire of myself and of every member of the Madero family that peace will soon be established. We hope that all good people in Mexico will co-operate towards this end."

It is understood that Mr. Madero is sending telegrams to President Huerta embodying the main features of the above statement.

MEDIATION MOVES DELAYED

Athens Dispatch Expresses Opinion That Surrender of Scutari is Near at Hand.

London, March 11.—Diplomacy with reference to the Balkan situation again is at a standstill and there is an almost complete absence of military news.

According to a Sofia dispatch Bulgaria is waiting for Serbia's reply and the allies reply to the powers respecting mediation will not be delivered until Wednesday.

The belief is current in European capitals that the allies are purposely delaying matters in expectation of the speedy fall of Adrianople and Scutari, which would place them in a more favorable position for the proposed negotiations.

A strong military censorship again has been placed on Constantinople newspapers which are forbidden to publish changes in the army or any rumor concerning the position of the ministry.

An Athens dispatch to the Daily Telegraph expressed the belief that the fall of Scutari is imminent and that the allies will avoid peace negotiations until that time.

A special dispatch from Cetinje reports another unsuccessful sortie by the Turks in an attempt to raise the siege of Scutari.

London, March 11.—A Saloniki dispatch to the Times dated March 8 gives details of a serious fight, with heavy casualties between the Bulgarians and Greeks at Nigrita. According to the Sofia correspondent of the Times, the two governments have arranged to institute a strict inquiry into the engagement and punish the guilty parties and will elaborate a code of regulations to prevent a repetition of such incidents.

A. & M. TEAM ON DIAMOND

Makes Good Showing Against Philadelphia Athletics, but Loses Game 16 to 4.

College Station, Tex., March 10.—For four innings this afternoon the Texas Farmers held the Philadelphia Athletic youngsters to a good game. The score at the end of the fourth inning was 3 to 4. Moran then put in a number of substitutes and after that the Yankigans had little trouble in running the score to sixteen.

Connie Mack used three pitchers, Bremmerhoff, Durning and Bush, and Moran of A. and M. used Hyrant, Hall and Sweller. Hyrant gives promise of making good as a finger. Wright, of A. and M., carried off the hitting honors for his club annexing a three bagger. The Yankigans garnered seventeen hits, while the aggies secured five.

Republicans to Support Gallinger.

Washington, March 10.—Republican senators in caucus today decided to cast their complimentary vote for the officers who have conducted senate affairs under Republican control. They will support Senator Gallinger for president pro tem. The only elective office which will be given to the Republicans probably will be the assistant doorkeeper. Carl A. Loeffler was selected by the caucus for that position, which is in the nature of a confidential clerkship to the minority membership.

If the majority is for Sunday ball, and there seems no doubt of it, the Nashville club will reconsider its decision not to play and stage Sunday games. The Basket Ball banquet will take place at the Y. M. C. A.

Mrs. F. J. Lennox calls the City Federation board for 19 o'clock at the library.

THE PRISCILLAS MEET WITH MRS. HARRY JORDAN

For sewing matinee, Mrs. H. P. Jordan called the Priscillas and a few special guests into her attractive West Austin home, for Saturday afternoon. The usual fancy work stitches were taken, and bits of pleasurable news exchanged, to say nothing of the enjoyment of a luncheon plate.

MRS. F. J. LENNOX CALLS BOARD MEETING

It is announced in the happenings for today that Mrs. F. J. Lennox will hold her City Federation executive board meeting at 19 o'clock this morning at the library. This is for the purpose of launching the sale of tickets and for making the other necessary arrangements for the recitals of Mrs. Bertha Kunz Baker during Easter week.

A PRIVATE HOME WEDDING INTERESTS MANY FRIENDS

Both here and in the former homes of both the bride and groom, friends are interested in the marriage of E. J. Herford and Miss B. C. Carey. This found a home ceremony with friends at 1223 Jackson, followed by a congratulatory lunch at the home of Mrs. Herford, who is now more permanently located at 1203 South Ninth street.

CHANGES IN WALLACE HOME TO BE MADE THIS WEEK

Before the close of the week, the D. R. Wallace home will pass out of existence as the residence of one of the time honored families of this city. The passing away of Mrs. Wallace will place the house for rent. Mrs. R. B. Rogers will join the colors at the Kyle. Mr. and Mrs. George Tyler return to their home in Belton. They will be accompanied by Miss Leta Roberts, who, after a short visit, will join her parents at their ranch near Abilene.

MRS. WILLIAM SCHUMACHER HAS OLD HOME FRIENDS

Although the old home of Mrs. William Schumacher from Columbus, Ohio, is during the Lenten retirement, her friends have not resisted the impulse to show her a genuine home welcome. All has been simplicity, yet the opportunity to extend the hand of cordial welcome, and to afford Mrs. Schumacher has been the assurance. Among the guests in the pleasure. Among the courtesies extended have been especially those of Mrs. Allan Sanford for luncheon Mrs. H. C. Rialler for the afternoon calling to friends, and Mrs. J. A. Farly who will have Mrs. Schumacher with her this afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Schumacher are taking home passage for Columbus, Ohio, on Thursday morning.

THE SETTLEMENT PLAYGROUND FUND IS PROGRESSING

Mrs. Frank Forman, as chairman of the committee to raise the fund with which to equip the Evangelical Settlement playground, reports the amount climbing towards what will be necessary to provide simple play apparatus. The soliciting will continue until Friday at which time Mrs. Forman and her assistants hope to have all collected which has been promised, and to be able to make a definite report. This is a timely suggestion to any who have promised but not yet given, to send voluntarily to the committee. It is all the labor of love, hence an accommodation for the one to send, rather than the one to visit the several, perhaps find absent and have to repeat the visit. The News makes this suggestion, and not Mrs. Forman or her committee.

EUTERPEAN HAS PROGRAM WITH MRS. HERMAN L. SMITH

It was a large meeting of the Euterpean club with Mrs. Herman L. Smith on Saturday. And it proved an unusually interesting meeting, owing to the personal touch given between the club and the grand opera through the members who attended. Two former members are enrolled, these being the Mesdames Ella Lovelace and A. R. Wilson. Mrs. Smith, a comparatively new patron in this club, introduced her mother, Mrs. Davis, a winter visitor from the north. She served a one plate luncheon of dainties as her special courtesy to the club. Miss Mittie Newton was director of the afternoon's program. The business details mentioned the representation of the club at the district meeting. It is expected that Mrs. Virginia Ryan, district music chairman, will take the club's report. Miss Leta Pharr, without notes, gave an address upon the grand opera in general. Miss Katherine Garland contributed a piano number. Mrs. T. O. Glover was also a pianist. Miss Nettie Austrey and Mrs. Howard Mann gave personal impressions from grand opera in Dallas. Miss Mable Quay, former Euterpean president, who also attended the opera, specialized the dramatic feature in the presentation of "The Walkure." Miss Minnie Killough was the only guest of the afternoon. Mrs. Howard Mann invited the club for its next program.

SOCIETY NOTES

Do, pray, be careful that your card of announcement or of invitation does not include the tissue which the stationer sends between. This is carelessness unpardonable. That slip is only the precaution against rubbing between engraved sheets. When separated, and one sent to each friend, there is no possible excuse for its absence, as some recent cards have given.

A household hint which is pronounced very palatable is the placing of a marshmallow on the hot chocolate instead of the whipped cream. The heat is supposed to melt the mallow and add to the flavor. Try it, and see if you like it before serving.

After a gay visit in Fort Worth, Miss Katherine Red, whose movements are always of interest here, is again at home in Houston.

Among the out of town notes which are pleasurable to old home friends is that Mr. and Mrs. John Dyer of El Paso are enjoying a visit to California.

When we sit down to a table and are handed a stylish menu card, let us recall that the custom of printing dishes on cards dates back to the years when we wrote dates with a B. C.

One woman expresses the improvements in progress in Waco in these words: "We cannot get our breath around here, the atmosphere is so obstructed with new buildings."

The opening week has a great deal in store for those who enjoy social excitement.

There is no evading the thought, Waco society must study more the etiquette of leaving cards. Nay more, the women must come to closer conformity, else there is no use in leaving a card at all. The pastebord is intended to convey society's messages. This is a consideration unless all have the same code.

WOMEN APPLAUD THE WORD FOR SPITTING ORDINANCE

Scarcely had the voice of one set of women been heard in the paragraph urging the enforcement of the anti-spitting ordinance for this city as one of the most clean up measures, than a chorus of voices came from a new source. These are some of the experiences related:

One of the prominent women of society told of her experience in appearing on the street in her handsome reception coat. As she walked between Fifth and Sixth on Austin, a deluge of tobacco juice came from one of the offices on the second floor. Her coat was bespattered its entire length. The cleaner failed to obliterate the stain, and a seventy-five dollar loss occurred. If the anti-spitting ordinance had been under enforcement, that man, and he was a prominent lawyer, would have paid the penalty rather than the well dressed woman, or the enforcement of the law would have been a restraint, and prevented the accident. This for the decency involved.

Another woman telephoned of her experience as regards the sanitary and health side of the habit of promiscuous spitting. This woman was in front of one of the leading downtown groceries. The owner had on display green vegetables in baskets. A man passed, expelled the contents of his mouth into the basket of spinach, and passed on. The proprietor could not detect what had happened; he did not see the act. Therefore, that spinach went into a home and on a table. We will hope that it reached a careful kitchen and that the leaves were thoroughly cleaned. But there are many cooks who are not careful.

A third woman reports an experience anything but pleasant in one of the railway stations, where a policeman was in sight, but silent. A man deluged her dress just as she was waiting for her train, with no suspicion of thought as to what he had done.

Such habits may be tobacco, or it may be an infectious disease. The custom of promiscuous spitting allowed, unsanitary and unhealthful conditions come, Waco has the ordinance. Waco is posing as a clean town. She boasts a low death rate. The women are disgusted at what they see and endure. Why not the city commission among other observances of the city laws, enforce this?

THESE TWO YOUNG WOMEN

Tell How They Suffered and How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Their Health and Stopped all Pains.

Zanesville, Ohio. — "I would have cramping spells, distressed feeling in the lower part of my back, headaches and felt weak and very irregular. After taking five bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with Liver Pills for constipation, I felt well and strong and have no more female troubles. I hope every suffering woman will give your medicine a trial. I give you permission to publish what your remedies have done for me."—Mrs. ROY SIMMS, R. No. 6, Box 34, Zanesville, Ohio.

What Ten Dollars Did.

Danville, Va. — "I have only spent ten dollars on your medicine and I feel so much better than I did when the doctor was treating me. I don't suffer any bearing down pains at all now and I sleep well. I cannot say enough for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills for constipation, they have done so much for me. I am enjoying good health now and owe it to your remedies. I take pleasure in telling my friends and neighbors about them."—Mrs. MATTIE HALEY, 501 Colquhoun Street, Danville, Va.

few things about society's behavior at the Auditorium.

Letters come from Mrs. J. J. Durham, formerly of Terrace Row, who is on a recuperative trip to California. She writes that she is improving more than satisfactorily, and has the pleasure of being just across the street from Mrs. Harris, formerly Mrs. Lizzie Duval, of this city.

Those who have items for the women's department of the Morning News are urged again to report the same promptly. It is the earnest desire of the editor to have everything right up to the moment. This can be done only through the cooperation of patrons.

The flavor, Mr. J. J. Durham, off to Commissioner Caulfield for his humane idea now endorsed by the commission. This is to provide a shed for winter shelter and summer sun, for the impounded animals. Now, the gentlemen must do the same humane act for the poor dogs which the hoodlum wagon catches in midsummer.

So, the Easter openings come this week. What an excitement! Especially so for this season, since the advance criticism upon the new millinery is "Prettier than ever."

The Woman's club is anticipating an unusually interesting session this afternoon, for it brings the debate upon woman's suffrage. The Mesdames J. G. Kendall and J. W. Hale will present the two sides to this all absorbing question.

Mrs. J. M. McCutchan is for the first week receiving her friends in one of the Streeter apartments.

Mrs. Foster Fort comes in for special compliment over her attractive table arranged for Mr. Fort's birthday stag dinner.

The Jewish Woman's Council will invite several prominent club women for short talks upon wide awake topics at the next meeting.

With the first of April Mrs. E. J. Ashburn becomes matron again of her home on Franklin. It is now in the renovator's hands.

We must all catch the spirit of hospitality for the great Sunday school convention. It will be a grand affair, and bring thousands to Waco. We must remember, each one of us, that these visitors are our own guests, not somebody's else.

We must make it a point to drive out by Baylor University every Thursday afternoon at five o'clock and hear the campus concert by Professor Parker and his band.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Clifton, who have been in Kansas are returning by way of Fort Worth where they join Dr. and Mrs. Clifton for the Horse Show excitement.

MRS. WILSON HAS TEA PARTY.

Wives of Cabinet Members Discuss Politics Over Cups.

Washington, March 10.—Mrs. Wilson gave her first tea in the white house today with Mrs. Marshall, the wife of the vice president, and the wives of the cabinet members as her guests.

The first lady in the land herself presided at the table, and practically every woman in the cabinet circle dropped in during the afternoon.

Ten, was served in the president's study on the second floor of the white house instead of in the red room where Mrs. Taft and Mrs. Roosevelt hold similar functions.

Miss Belle Hanger, social secretary to Mrs. Wilson, was the only woman outside of the cabinet circle invited, and, according to gossip in Washington tonight, the social program of the new administration was discussed at length over the tea cups.

OLNEY MAY DECLINE.

Boston Man Has Been Offered Ambassadorship in London.

Boston, March 10.—Whether Richard Olney will return to public life from where he retired when the last administration of Grover Cleveland passed into history, may not be known for several days.

The former secretary of state is something of a stickler for official etiquette, and is disposed to reveal his attitude pending the close of correspondence with Washington.

Tonight a friend close to Mr. Olney said: "Mr. Olney admits having received the offer of the ambassadorship in London."

It is intimated that he has been disposed to decline the honor because of his age and a disinclination again to enter world politics. At the same time it is said that associates who know how easily Mr. Olney carries his 75 years are urging him to accept.

WILSON BASEBALL FAN.

Presidential Pass Doubtless Will Find Success.

Washington, March 10.—President Wilson probably will take advantage of his presidential baseball pass when the Washington team opens the American league season here April 10 with New York.

Former President Taft last year pitched the ball into the field for the opening game, and President Wilson this season may do the same. It is not unlikely that the president frequently will be a spectator at the big games, for it is known that he is somewhat of a "fan."

Palestine (Tex.) Bonds Carry.

Palestine, Tex., March 10.—Complete returns from Saturday's election show the $150,000 county house bonds, carried by a ten-to-one majority.

SOLDIERS RESUME MARCH

Improved Weather Conditions at Galveston and Texas City Are Welcome—Death in Camp.

Galveston, March 10.—Good weather prevailed today throughout the camp of the second division of the United States army now mobilized at Galveston and Texas City under command of Major General Wm. H. Carter, and as a result the aviation squadron was in the air with all machine and regimental bikes and practice marches were resumed. Camp conditions are considerably improved.

The first fatality among the men of the second division since the mobilization here occurred yesterday when Private A. Rasich, Company M, engineers, camped at Texas City, died in the local hospital there. His body was shipped this afternoon to San Antonio for interment in the national cemetery. While no official report of the cause of his death was given out, it was reported that he died of a malignant disease.

Lieutenant Colonel Samuel Reber, chief signal officer of the department of the east, with headquarters in New York, reported to division headquarters today to inspect the aviation squadron camped here under command of Captain C. D. Chadler, Colonel Reber is vice president of the Aero Association of America and has served for a number of years as chairman of the contest board of that association.

His Last Chance for Life.
Lincoln, Neb., March 10.—A last appeal to save Albert Prince from the gallows was made to the state board of pardons today. The case has been before the courts for more than a year and has attracted wide attention.

Prince, a negro, was serving a sentence for burglary in the state penitentiary here when, on February 11, 1912, he stabbed and killed Deputy Warden Davis during services in the prison chapel. The crime was the beginning of a series of tragedies at the penitentiary, in which four officials and three convicts were killed. Prince was convicted of murder and sentenced on August 30 last. The execution was stayed by an appeal to the supreme court, which tribunal later reaffirmed the sentence. Unless the board of pardons interferes the negro will be executed on Friday of next week.

Gift From French Government.
New Orleans, La., March 10.—A voucher drawn by the French government for 25,000 francs was cashed today by J. Vergnolle, president of the local French Colony society. The money is the gift of the French government to the new colony hospital just completed in this city. The hospital is under the supervision of the Societe Francaise de Bienfaisance, which has been engaged in benevolent work in New Orleans for nearly three quarters of a century.

Texarkana Freight Rate Case.
Shreveport, La., March 10.—A hearing in the Texarkana freight rate case, in which the Iron Mountain and several other railroads are named as defendants, was begun here today before Examiner Each of the Interstate Commerce Commission. The case involves the complaint of Texarkana business men who allege that the railroads discriminate against their city in the matter of freight rates. They ask that Texarkana be granted the same rates as are given to Shreveport.

THE INFLUENCE OF COTTON.

The Manufacturers' Record has favored us with a synopsis of an article on cotton it will print in its issue of March 27. This article will contain many facts of world-wide interest, a few of which may be mentioned here in advance:

Produced from 35,000,000 acres, or 11.9 per cent, of the 294,343,000 acres devoted to twelve leading crops of the country in 1912, the cotton crop, including its seed, in that year had a value of $1,000,000,000, equal to 20.4 per cent of the aggregate value, $4,906,448,000, of those crops. Upon something more than one-eighth of the land devoted to those crops in the whole country, the South produced one crop, having a value more than one-fifth of the aggregate value of the twelve crops.

In the last census year, 1909, the value of all factory products in the United States was $20,672,052,000. In that year the value of the outputs of blast furnaces and iron and steel works and rolling mills was $1,377,152,000, and the value of cotton goods, including hosiery and all knit goods, and of primary products of cotton seed was $915,070,000. In the first-named industries 278,505 wage-earners were employed, and in the second group 474,701.

The value of merchandise exported from the United States in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1912, was $2,204,322,409. Of the total, raw cotton represented $565,849,271, manufacturers of cotton $50,769,511, and cotton seed and its products $42,142,181, an aggregate of $658,760,963, representing products of the cotton plant, and 29.9 per cent of the total value of all merchandise exports from the country. In the thirty-three years between 1880 and 1912 there was exported from the United States merchandise to the value of $39,151,828,193, and of that total $9,655,282,138, or 24.7 per cent, was the value of the Southern cotton exports.

In the thirty-three years the cotton crops of the South, including seed, had an aggregate value of $16,452,000,000, the output of all the gold mines of the world was worth $7,434,105,600, and the output of all the silver mines was worth $2,459,909,642. The thirty-three cotton crops had a value of $8,894,400,000 greater than the thirty-three years' gold production in the world and $5,397,964,738 greater than the combined gold and silver production. In the same period the value of exports of raw cotton from the South reached the sum of $9,655,282,138, or $2,051,758,974 greater than the value of the world's gold production in the same time.

In no year since 1880 has the combined output of all the gold mines and silver mines in the world equaled in value the value of the South's cotton crop, with its seed, and in only five of the thirty-three years was the output of all the gold mines in the world sufficient to pay for the cotton exported from the United States.

The value of merchandise exports from the United States in the thirty-three years was greater by $9,162,402,945 than the value of imports to this country, and that sum was $523,451,629 less than the value of the South's raw cotton exports.

Southern cotton fields, now represented in 30 per cent of annual export merchandise values, are thus strikingly shown to be an essentially important factor, not only in the agriculture of the United States, in the manufacturing industries and commerce of the world, but in the basis of exchange.

Southern cotton mills alone are now consuming annually more cotton than the South produced in 1880, more than all the mills of the whole country consumed as late as 1896, and more than half the amount now consumed annually by all the mills of the country. In all the South, now embracing sixteen states, there were 687,066 active spindles in 1880, which used 111,777,177 pounds of cotton, the spindles being 6.4 per cent of the total number of active ones in the United States and using 14.8 per cent of the cotton used by all the mills in the country. Last year the 11,858,600 active spindles in the South used 1,319,707,813 pounds of cotton, their number being 38.8 per cent of those in all the mills of the country, and the cotton used being more than 50 per cent of the total quantity consumed. Contemporaneously the active loom equipment of Southern mills increased from 14,754, or 6.6 per cent of the total of the country, to 252,279, or 35.5 per cent of the total. These equipment statistics suggest not only the multiplicity but also the multifariousness of the South's textile activities today, producing a hundred different lines of goods, spun, woven and knit.

"These facts," the Record submits, "mark out the task of the South in this particular. It is, of its own initiative, or in co-operation with capital from other parts, to take advantage of its unsurpassed opportunities, to the end that by the time the world shall be calling for an annual world crop of 42,000,000 bales, the South will be raising 30,000,000 of them, and instead of sending 65 per cent of its crop to other parts of the world for manufacturing, will be consuming that much at home in making goods for the markets of the world."

PUBLICITY ALWAYS WINS.

Pastoriza was the only one of the present commissioners of the city of Houston re-nominated in the primary a few days ago.

Pastoriza believes in publicity in municipal affairs.

Ben Campbell was nominated for mayor of Houston in the primary.

Campbell believes in publicity in municipal affairs.

The day of star chamber methods in public business is past. The people not only want to know what is being done with their business affairs, but they want to know the line of reasoning by which the public servants reach the determination as to the policy to be followed. The people are putting up the money and are the owners of all that is done, and they require of their employees full information. If there is a new school building to be erected, they want to know where the school authorities expect to locate that school, and why such location is selected.

If there is an old school building to be abandoned, they want to know why, and the reasons that led the school authorities to do this.

If certain streets are to be paved, the people want to know that such paving is in contemplation, and why.

If it is proposed to grant additional franchise rights to a public service corporation, the people want to know what request is being made, and the benefit that will come to the public by reason of the additional facilities—and they want to know before the rights have been given.

We will take a case in point, regarding public business. Some months ago the water commissioners of Waco purchased property at the corner of Twenty-fourth and Parrott streets, with the view of locating there the standpipe for the new water system. The matter was not known to the public at the time, but when it came up for discussion at a meeting of the water commission, the Morning News outlined the plans and purposes. It seems that the people living in that section of the city objected to the standpipe as a neighbor. Some called it a scarecrow. Through the publicity given by the Morning News the neighbors to the standpipe location found out, and were enabled to make their protest. The protest was evidently well founded, else it would not have been given consideration by the commission.

A petition was recently circulated to pave Washington street. The Morning News published the fact, and it seems there were some people along that street who objected. The publicity that was given the proposition by the Morning News enabled these people who had a protest to learn of the plans and to file their objections.

Houston has spoken on the publicity matter. All towns are in favor of it, and it will be settled in every community that the man who seeks to do public business in the privacy of a closed room will be retired to private life. The people's business must be transacted in the full light of day.

RURAL SCHOOL IMPROVEMENT

According to an announcement made by the Texas Commercial Secretaries' association, the Smith County Farm Life commission, which was organized by the Texas Farm Life commission, has inaugurated a working plan of ambitious proportions which might well be followed by the sixty or more county farm life commissions in the state. The Smith county school superintendent has arranged for seven lectures on domestic science in as many different parts of the county by an expert from the University of Texas. The county health officer will deliver a lecture on home sanitation at each of these meetings. About the middle of this month there will be an all-day meeting in Tyler, the county seat, when the school teachers and school trustees of the county will assemble, in addition to many farmers, for whom the session is primarily held.

The main purpose of the Smith county movement is to increase the efficiency of the country school and give the country boys and girls the same advantages as those enjoyed by their city brothers and sisters. It is a movement to eliminate one of the greatest disadvantages of farm life and leave no strong incentive to abandon the country. If it is given general support and expanded to take in all of the state's agricultural regions the excuse for crying out "back to the farm" will soon cease to exist, for there will be few if any farmers wanting to move to the towns and cities.

In this connection it is in order to note that the second annual series of conferences concerning rural school education will be conducted at the University of Texas during the week beginning July 14 next. In making this announcement Professor Sutton, dean of summer schools, says:

"It is believed that the exercises throughout the entire week will be exceedingly valuable to the men and women who are interested in the development of the country schools in Texas. County superintendents and teachers in the rural districts, trustees of common school districts and members of the county boards of education and of local boards of school trustees are cordially invited to be in attendance and to participate actively in the proceedings. County superintendents, particularly, are urged to be present to enjoy the splendid instruction which will be given by Superintendent Kern and others, and to take an active part in all the exercises, especially in the round table discussions. If the county superintendents will only take advantage of this opportunity, there is little reason to doubt that the rural school movement in Texas will this year assume larger and more vigorous proportions."

The conference will help to stimulate the movement Smith county is about to inaugurate, and cause it to spread to other counties. The effect of holding the rural population to the soil is well illustrated in the following from the Brownwood Bulletin:

"In some portions of the state the newspapers report that the better class of farmers are moving to town to get the superior advantages offered by the town schools. In Brown county there is little complaint of this kind, the rural schools have excellent facilities and teachers in most instances. The apparently necessary short term is the only objection offered."

Reminding Editor-Senator McNealus of the pledge he made in November, 1896, he is advised that William J. Bryan is now secretary of state—with in two rungs of the top of the ladder.

For Campbell Ratification.

Houston, Tex., March 10.—An enormous political rally was staged tonight at the Auditorium to ratify the outcome of the city Democratic nomination of Friday last. Campbell and all the speakers who aided him spoke while torch light processions poured in with banners from the various wards. The only opposition to the ticket named is by socialists who have a ticket in the field headed by C. E. Kuester for mayor.

J. M. Grant Dies.

Bloomington, March 10.—J. M. Grant died at his residence in Bloomington at 12 o'clock Saturday night. He was a prominent member of the Methodist church and prominent in business circles, being president of the Bloomington State bank and Bloomington Grove Hardware company. The remains were interred in Dresden cemetery by the Masonic lodge of Bloomington.

Germany is En Fete.

Berlin, March 10.—Prussia and, in fact, nearly all Germany, is en fete today in celebration of the hundredth anniversary of Prussia's war of liberation against Napoleon. The celebration will continue through the greater part of the week. From the capital down to the smallest village and hamlet business was at a standstill today while the populace gave itself up to the joyousness of the occasion.

PRESIDENT WITH BRYAN FORMALLY MEET DIPLOMATS

Washington, March 10.—While President Wilson already has dispensed with some of the formalities which hitherto have been observed by occupants of the white house, he demonstrated today that he would observe to the letter the international amenities of his office.

Probably the most formal ceremony in which Mr. Wilson ever has participated was his presentation today to the diplomatic corps accredited to Washington by the civilized nations of the globe. In a semi-circle of brilliant color, their uniforms glistened profusely with the insignia of their rank, 146 foreign representatives stood in impressive silence while the new president and Secretary of State Bryan entered through the big doors of the east room.

The president and Secretary Bryan wore the conventional frock suits of formal occasion in which the president was accompanied by Chief Aide Colonel Spencer Cosby and his personal aide, Major Thomas Rhoades, both of them in full dress uniforms of the American army. On each side of the entrance the white house aides, three from the army and three from the navy, stood at attention.

In groups of six and eight the diplomats and their staff were arranged. The American ambassador, Secretary of State, presented the president first to Ambassador Jusserand of France, dean of the diplomatic corps. Secretary Bryan was presented with similar ceremony. To each diplomat the president spoke a word of greeting, but the ceremony throughout was formal.

Makes Short Address.

After the president had met individually the circle of diplomats, he addressed them briefly, expressing the hope for the continuance of amicable relations between this nation and their respective countries, and indicating the wish that their service in Washington might be personally enjoyable.

In Wednesday afternoon the diplomatic corps will be entertained at a banquet at the white house with the members of their families, when Mrs. Wilson and the three Wilson daughters will be present.

Big "Safety First" Rally.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 10.—Operating employees representing all of the railroads entering Pittsburg took part today in a big "safety first" rally. R. L. O'Donnell, general superintendent of the Pennsylvania railroad, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, presided at the meeting and made a speech to the effect that the railroad men the necessity for care and caution in their methods of work, for their own safety as well as that of the passengers riding on their roads.

Pen Bill Has Aroused Interest

the system under which the penitentiaries are now conducted.

Speaker Terrell helps the bill. Speaker Terrell took the floor and argued that the state owed the money no matter how it was spent, and that the debt had to be paid. He said that the bill was a necessary measure to relieve the farmers who simply raise the tax rate 10 cents to pay for the debt or have to issue bonds.

Lane handed out shots to those opposing the bill in scathing statements that they were playing a double game to embarrass the administration. Some members threatened to enjoin the state from employing the permanent school fund to purchase the bonds if they are issued, the plan proposed by the bill. The house is still discussing the bill and while the authors are claiming that it will be carried tomorrow or Wednesday by a slight majority, old hands at the game are not attempting to play the role of prophets.

Married Woman's Bill.

The free conference committee tonight reported back to the house and senate its substitute bill for the married woman's rights bill so thoroughly amended by the senate, its provisions give the wife control of her separate property, and the income from it, but restrain her from disposing of it without the joining of her husband. She can appeal to the court in case of debt and all the other matters which the court is authorized to settle in such cases as to whether she shall dispose of the property as desired or not.

The substitute bill is acceptable to the original bill defenders in both houses, but goes further than the governor believes is necessary.

Court Bills Are Doomed.

There is a wailing and gnashing of teeth in the camps of the advocates of new judicial districts tonight. Governor Colquitt's repeated assertion that he would veto any bills providing for new courts is at last believed by those who have been active in working for reform by adding more courts.

The Ninth appellate court that the Beaumont district has been looking forward to is doomed before it is even created in the legislature. The additional district court at Waco also is a dead issue. New Williams said tonight that other members had been carried over the governor's veto, and if necessary a court bill could be, but other members are not taking the same view.

Wants Educational Legislation.

The governor today released the newspaper representatives from any idea of secrecy they might imagine themselves bound by in regard to his anxiety to have his message on educational policies carried into effect. He has expressed himself as soliciting over the action the legislature may or may not take in regard to the University and A. and M. college. Today he suggested that the people of the state should be taken into his confidence, but goes further and says that this is an opportunity to bring about the changes he has advocated as large sums must be spent in the erection of new buildings to replace those burned at the Agricultural and Mechanical college.

Considering Santa Fe Merger.

This afternoon the governor took the Santa Fe consolidation out of the safe of his secret drawer on the left hand side and sent it to the railroad commission for inspection.

This is considered a hopeful sign by the Santa Fe followers, as they have been on the anxious seat ever since they learned that the governor had retired to his private den over his office last Saturday and spent the afternoon pounding the typewriter keys, grinding out a message.

He issued a proclamation today calling for an election in the tenth congressional district to fill out Burleson's unexpired term. The district comprises Bastrop, Burleson, Caldwell, Lee, Travis, Washington, Williams and Hayes counties.

Health and Beauty Aids

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN

A. J. B.: You can have beautiful, long, glossy and fluffy hair of rich, even color, if you shampoo carefully at least once every month with any wash that does not contain "free" alkali. Do not use soap. The best, most dependable and really delightful mixture is made by dissolving a teaspoonful of each in a cup of hot water. This is enough to cleanse both hair and scalp thoroughly of dandruff, dirt and excess oil and the hair dries quickly and evenly with a wonderful gloss and delightful soft fluffiness.

Mrs. M.: Clogging skin with powder is likely to ruin the finest complexion, enlarge pores and produce pimples and blackheads. An economical, home-made spumax lotion is fine for complexion faults and frequently used instead of powder, as it is beautiful when on and imparts a delightful, velvety smoothness and healthy hue to the skin. Get four ounces of spumax from your druggist and dissolve one ounce in a pint of water, to which add two teaspoonfuls glycerine. The spumax lotion prevents chaps and overcomes oiliness and that lifeless look to the complexion.

Florence: Your pimply skin and rundown feeling is doubtless due to impurities in the blood, which cause most skin eruptions. The best and most effective remedy is this home-made and very inexpensive one: Dissolve one ounce of salicylic acid in a half pint of alcohol (not whiskey) in a half pint of cold water. Rub into scalp once or twice a week with tips of fingers. It is effective and helps the growth of hair, stimulating scalp to perfectly natural condition.

Ruth: I always cure dull, listless, tired, aching eyes by the use of this simple, inexpensive, home-made tonic, which I will prepare very easily by dissolving an ounce of crystals in a pint of water. Two or three drops placed in each eye quickly relieves that smarting, burning sensation, reduces inflammation and gives beauty, sparkle and brilliancy to the eyes.

NO ACTION IS TAKEN

ON THE PROPOSITION TO SINK THE JUMBO WELL TO A LOWER DEPTH.

Chairman Sleeper Doubts the Wisdom of It—Bids for Boilers. Lining of Tunnel.

The Corsicana contractor who appeared before the water commission February 25 and submitted a proposition whereby he offered to sink the Jumbo well at the corner of First and Webster streets 350 feet deeper than it now is and strike a water bearing stratum, was asked to submit a water supply contract for 1,000,000 gallons every 24 hours, has not been heard from since he discussed the matter with the commissioners.

In discussing the matter at the commission meeting last night W. M. Sleeper stated that he felt that the proposition had better be left alone, he feared that the work could not be done without danger of putting the well out of commission for several months by getting drills stuck, etc. No action was taken on the matter.

Bids for Boilers.

Bids for three boilers, and piping for the new water plant, were opened. Bids were submitted by Nolan Wright Machinery company of Dallas; Casey Hedger of Chattanooga, Tenn.; Wicks Boiler company, Saginaw, Mich.; John O'Brien Boiler works, St. Louis; Randall, Largrove & Wyman, Houston; A. M. Lockett company, Murray; and Smith & Whitney. The bids for the boilers submitted by the Hedger company, which had

EUROPEAN ARMAMENTS EXCITE

Feeling of Anxiety Is Created in Great Britain By References of Press.

London, March 10.—The alarming development of European armaments and the open references of the German press to the possibility of a French war of revenge, creates a feeling of anxiety in Great Britain and the London morning papers express disappointment at the omission in the king's speech at the opening of parliament of any indication of the government's intention with regard to further defensive measures to meet the growth of continental armaments.

The subsequent debate on the address, however, brought an important statement from Premier Asquith. Lord Hugh Cecil has voiced the current rumors that the government was embarking on a dangerous foreign policy and had entered into an agreement in certain contingencies to throw a British expeditionary army across the channel. The prime minister suddenly jumped up and said:

"I ought to say at once that that is not true."

This explicit denial was received with loud cheers.

RAIN CAUSES WASHOUTS.

Railroad Traffic Is Delayed—Beulah Break Being Repaired.

Vicksburg, Miss., March 10.—A rainfall of 3.45 inches in this vicinity Sunday caused a number of washouts in the railroads and disarrangement of train schedules on the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley railroad and the Queen and Crescent system.

The rising water in the Mississippi river has not caused any alarm here among the engineers who believe the work of closing the Beulah break will not be hindered.

Geese Going North.

Lockhart, Tex., March 10.—Several hundred geese, evidently losing their way north on account of heavy rain storms, kept the people of Lockhart awake last night flying around town in an effort to get their bearings. At daybreak, however, they headed due north.

Morton's Condition Still Serious.

The Theatres

Benefit Performance.

Gibson Gayle will have a "benefit" performance Saturday when Fritz Scheff comes to the Auditorium. Gibson Gayle has been at the ticket window a long time. The folks who telephone for seats must depend on Gibson's good judgment in picking desirable ones, and those who are late in making reservations must depend on Gibson to find the "last one unsold." He knows the seat diagram by heart, and he is the one who has to avoid the "posts" when he is getting the good location. Ladies and children depend upon his good judgment for matinee seats, and throughout the entire theatre year they receive the courteous treatment that he has for them. So when a benefit performance is announced for him, there will be many who will buy the tickets.

W. J. Neale was the first to buy a box for the occasion.

The press notice says: "Miss Fritz Scheff in the most pretentious operatic production of her entire career, 'The Love Vaguer,' will be seen at the Auditorium Saturday. Miss Scheff is under the management of Joseph M. Gaites, who secured for her this opera of Hungarian origin, with music by a new composer. The story is from a Hungarian source and the libretto has been written by Edith Ellis. Gory Duncan provided the lyrics, and the composer is Charles J. Hambitzer, a musician whose exceptional talents were discovered and vouched for by Miss Scheff herself. 'The Love Vaguer' gets its title from the plot, which deals with a wanderer named Miti (Miss Scheff), the fascinating and mischievous child of a Hungarian widow, that she will give the handsome lieutenant one kiss for each of her elder sisters if he succeeds in marrying them off. He agrees to find husbands for all of them, and by a series of incidents succeeds in making three of his friends propose in succession. This Miti, the eldest unmarried daughter, as she is called, is a great star to the opera when David Blapham chose music as his profession.

This remarkable dramatic power gives him a wonderful hold on his audience, for when Blapham sings he puts into the song what was meant to be there. If it is tragedy, then there is tragedy in his voice and face; if it is devotion, one feels that he is listening to a prayer; if it is praise, one is lifted into the same state as the singer, if it is love, tenderness and affection in his notes; if it is humor, you hear the rippling of laughter; if it is descriptive, you see the thing that is described. There is nothing mechanical about Mr. Blapham's singing—it is all the man himself.

A St. Louis critic writes of his recent concert in that city: "No one fresh from a concert given by David Blapham could write coldly of his wonderful art—certainly, I cannot. From the first, under melody of the 'Bango Song,' through the dramatic power and strength of 'Danny Deever,' the wonderful, gripping, aching intensity of 'Edward,' this great artist poured forth the heaven-sent beauty of his voice, and, wonderful to relate, throughout the whole evening this master-singer had not a line nor a word before him. Even in his superb, marvelous reading of that final test of the reader, actor and singer, 'King Robert of Sicily,' Mr. Blapham relied entirely upon his trained memory."

The date of the Blapham Concert is Friday night, March 14th, at the Auditorium.

An Anti-Grouch Crusade.
A press notice says: "Any display of temper or ill-nature is tabooed in Louis Mann's company this season. In fact, even a slight frown is an expensive indulgence for any one of the 'Elevating a Husband' stars. She would a lady's charming little leading woman has taken up her crusade against pessimism, ill nature and 'perpetual grouch'."

It was early in the season that Miss Wellman determined to take a stand against "grouch" and ill temper and at the same time to put her crusade to some practical use. She read in one of the dailies a notice from the Animal Rescue League soliciting funds. A happy thought struck her. She could kill two birds with one stone. She would also aim a blow at unhappiness and ill temper and at the same time be of aid to a cause for which she has always had the greatest admiration. With the help of Laura Walker, Charles Miller and Margaret Tompkins of Mr. Mann's company, Miss Wellman made up a written notice warning members of the company how expensive indulgences in a "grouch" were to be. There was to be a system of fines. Even a slight frown was punishable to the amount of ten cents. A heavy frown overclouding an otherwise pretty girl's face and spreading gloom wherever it might be seen, would cost the young woman as much as two dollars. Cross words varied in price, but mild prodding of ten cents. A figure so high that few members of the company could afford to indulge in even a plain "grouch darn." Oh, fudge! cost twenty-five cents. These fines as quickly as collected were received for by Miss Wellman and all sums placed in a small box attached to the door of her dressing room. As soon as the amount reached a promising size Miss Wellman sends the money to the Rescue League, and already possesses two receipts from the organization. Mr. Mann and Miss Wellman will be seen in "Elevating a Husband" at the Auditorium Wednesday evening, March 12th.

Neil O'Brien.
A press notice says:

The Auditorium announces for its attraction today matinee and night Neil O'Brien's "American Minstrels," now on its first tour and which comes here with the endorsement of Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Detroit, Baltimore, St. Louis, Kansas City and other cities, each of which has put their stamp of approval upon the entertainment. The star of the organization, Mr. O'Brien, enjoys an extensive and very popular reputation as a comedian, as a writer of negro sketches and as a producer of minstrel acts. Now that he has left the Rockstar after several years as the leading feature of that organization, and heads his own company, he has followed up

ALLEGED LAND FRAUDS ARE UP

Government Witnesses Identify Original Applications for Coal Territory Entries in Alaska.

Chicago, March 10.—Identification of the original applications for coal land entries in Alaska was the first step today in the opening of the alleged Alaska land fraud trials in the federal court here. F. A. Boyle, receiver for the United States land office in Juneau, Alaska, identified the original documents, among them applications by George A. Bell, one of the five defendants and W. C. Ball, sixty-seven persons are alleged by the government to have permitted the use of their names in obtaining coal land locations.

Witnesses for the government today asserted for the first time that it was the purpose of the coal land locators to sell their combined holdings to the Guggenheims of New York. "Actual correspondence with the Guggenheims took place," said Special Assistant Attorney Townsend. "It was the purpose to sell the holdings to the Guggenheims, who have valuable mining property in Alaska."

Nathaniel S. Nears, of counsel for Albert C. Frost and his four co-defendants, denied in detail the charges of Mr. Townsend in his opening statement. "The defense will show that there was no conspiracy to defraud the government," he said. "The locations were honestly made and there was no intention at any time to commit a crime or evade the law."

VACCINE TEST TO BE THOROUGH

Government Health Officers Announce Truth of Tuberculosis Medicine Will Be Made Public.

Washington, March 10.—Surgeon General Blue of the public health service, announced today that Dr. John F. Anderson, director of the hygienic laboratory, who, with Assistant Surgeon A. M. Stimson, witnessed a clinic at Mount Sinai hospital yesterday, when Dr. F. F. Friedman administered his vaccine to seven tuberculosis patients, will not begin the government's test until his return to Washington later in the week.

Dr. Anderson and Dr. Stimson will continue to watch the patients treated by Dr. Friedman in Mount Sinai hospital.

The surgeon general said today that he would approach the test of the Friedman vaccine with an open mind, and that nothing would be made public regarding the experiments until a most thorough test had been made. If the treatment is found to be good, the public will be told so; if it is found not to be good, the public will be told so.

Bryan's Request Granted.

Washington, March 10.—At the request of Secretary Bryan, Huntington Wilson, the assistant secretary of state, has cancelled reservations to sail for Europe and will remain at the department for the present. No one in the department would discuss the assistant secretaryship, but it is known that Mr. Wilson is anxious to surrender the office as soon as possible.

Sea Wall for Bay St. Louis.

BOWLING CONTEST THURSDAY

Will Lacy's Team Plays Off Tie With Link's for Huaco Club Championship.

The March championship for the bowling contest at the Huaco club will be played on this week, probably Thursday night, between the teams captained by Will Lacy and Charles P. Link. Each of these teams won two of three games played during February from teams captained by R. M. Kilgough and L. E. Luedde. The stopping board of the alley was put out of commission the last game and the final game for the championship will be played when they are repaired.

As the contest now stands, Lacy's team and Link's team each have won a game and the rules of the contest say the two best of three games shall decide the championship.

When the tournament started there were four teams in the tournament. The first six games were an elimination contest, which resulted in Lacy's and Link's teams being declared the winners.

ATHLETICS CHOICE IN AMERICAN RACE

CONNIE MACK MAKES PREDICTION FIRST TIME SINCE HE BECAME MANAGER.

HAS REPAIRED THE OUTFIELD

Injured Players Were Responsible for Poor Showing Against Red Sox and Senators.

When the Waco Navigators play the Philadelphia Athletics one game here Thursday local fandom will have the opportunity of seeing a ball club that has twice won the world's series and one that is predicted to be the dark horse in the American league race this season.

Cornelius McGillicuddy, a person of height and conservatism, is rash enough to predict that the Athletics will be in the pennant fight up to the end. That's more than Connie has ventured to say since he measured Philadelphia to American league cloth.

The tall tutor has gone so far as to assert that his 1913 model Mackmen are stronger than the string which won world's championships in 1910 and 1911. Mack explains. Virtually every critic in the country picked the Athletics to win their third straight muslin last year. They didn't, and their fall-down surprised everybody.

Connie points the loss of the championship of 1912 to defects in the pitching staff, the breakdown of his outfield and the injuries to Dan Murphy and Jack Barry.

It will be recalled that Murphy, the best man of the outfield, cracked his kneecap sliding into the plate at Mr. Conkle's palatial park in June of the 1912 brush. Murphy was out for the rest of the season, Barry too, was hurt, and when the Athletics returned to Philadelphia after this ill-starred tour they were forced to play Boston in a five-game series that was the turning point of the race. Without Murphy and Barry the Mackmen lost the series to the Red Sox, although the scores of the games were close.

As two of the defeats can be blamed on the defensive transgressions of Derick, Barry's substitute, and as Murphy's batting might have turned the tide in any of the close games, it is easy to see how much their services were missed.

Glad To Finish in Third Place.
The injury to Murphy broke up the outfield for the rest of the season, and the Athletics in a way were fortunate to finish as high as third place under the circumstances. They certainly deserved no higher position.

The pitching staff was irreparably damaged by the slump of Cy Morgan and Harry Krause. Morgan and Krause while by no means the stars that some of the other major league pitchers served a very useful purpose on the team. They could beat all the second division clubs, so that Mack was able to save Coombs, Bender and Plank for the hard opponents.

When Morgan and Krause couldn't win games, Mack, to save himself, had to use some of his untried youngsters, and also assign heavier burdens to his star curvers. This completely broke up his pitching plans for the year and he didn't have the reserve pitchers to meet the emergency. Mack dismissed Krause first and Morgan next. He saw the pennantship on the wall and let games slide away in order to develop men for the 1913 campaign.

Mack has mended the chinks in his outfield and buttressed his pitching staff. He says that for the first time in Athletic history he has an outfield which has his complete confidence. It has both quantity and quality.

ERNST WINS FROM MAYHER

Dutchman Gets First Two Falls at Majestic; Next Bout at Auditorium Friday Night.

Adolph Ernst easily defeated Jack Mayher the first two falls, in the wrestling match staged at the Majestic theatre last night under the promotion of Curly Meyers, the manager of Ernst. The first fall was gained in 40 minutes and the second fall in 25 minutes. Mayher, who is a big Bohemian from Omaha, put up a hard fight for Ernst, but the latter had little difficulty in wearing him down and pinning his shoulders to the mat.

The first fall was gained by a head scissors and the second fall was due to a leg hold and an arm lock. The match was a spectacular throughout. Mayher did not admit defeat until he was pinned fast to the mat. He secured many good holds on Ernst, but seemed unable to hold them. A good preliminary between two Greeks ended after a battle royal between six big negroes. The attendance was very light.

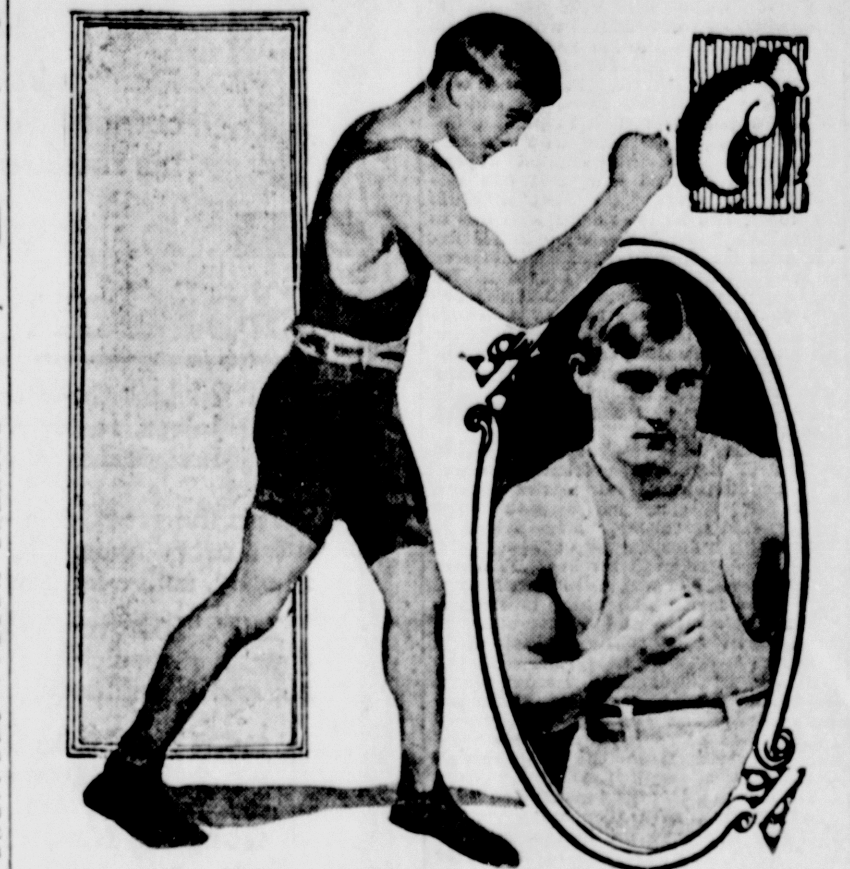

The next bout scheduled is between Bob Manigot and Will Demetral, the champion to the light heavyweight championship of the world. Manigot has wired that he will arrive here late today or Wednesday. Demetral is supposed to have left Los Angeles Saturday night. This match will be at the Auditorium theatre under the management of Promoter H. Charleson.

To Keep Sand Out of Hair and Beard Barber Gives Mirror

A mirror in a club house where baseball players change a uniform for civilian clothes is the latest addition of furniture to the club house at Katy park. Imagine a ball player leaving the grounds with his hair combed and brushed and his collar on straight! With time thinning are fast changing. Before long it will be a shave and a shampoo, maybe a negro to assist with the rub-down.

It will not be a fault of Joe Kemmendo if the Waco Navigators do not leave the ball park with their neckties on straight. He has donated a large mirror and a number of combs and brushes to be placed at the club house. It may be that Joe wanted the boys to know when they had all the sand washed out of their beard and hair, as President Davidson has a contract with him to do all the "chin-smoothing" for the ball players during the practice season.

Klaus-Papke Bout In Paris May 5 to Attract Many Americans

BILLY PAPKE. FRANK KLAUS.

When Papke and Klaus meet in Paris May 5 they will hear many shouts from American fight fans. The promoters of the match announce that seat reservations for the mill will be made by Americans from all parts of Europe.

Schedules For Pennant Races of Baseball Leagues Complete

Opening and Closing Dates of Most Organizations Have Been Officially Announced By Their Managers.

New York, March 10.—Schedule-making of the nearly two score of recognized professional baseball leagues in the country is practically complete for the 1913 season, with only a few departures from the general program followed last year.

The first pennant race is to be started as usual by the Pacific Coast league, whose season opens April 15 and which is also the last to close, on October 26. April 19 is the big opening day of the year marking the commencement of the two major league seasons and those of the American association, the Texas league and the Southern league.

The Western league, whose season opens April 18 and closes October 5, has voted to retain the 168 game schedule which makes three minor leagues now playing longer schedules than the major leagues—namely, the Pacific Coast league, the American association and the Western league.

Among the changes this year in the various circuits there is the probable shift of the Fall River, Mass., franchise to Portland, Me., in the New England league; the return of Waterbury, Conn., to the old Connecticut league, which will be called the Eastern association this year, and the addition of New London and Pittsfield with the loss of New Britain, makes an eight-club circuit. Last year there were but six teams.

The Central league is considerably changed, being reduced from a 12-club circuit to one of six cities—Fort Wayne, Terre Haute and Evansville, Indiana; Indianapolis and Springfield, Ohio, and Grand Rapids, Mich. The

TEXARKANA STILL IN LEAGUE

Dee Fointexter Will Manage Team. Funds Have Been Raised to Finance Club.

Texarkana, Tex., March 10.—With the completion of the campaign for $2,500 to maintain baseball here, the fans of Texarkana have been assured that the city will remain as a member of the Texas-Oklahoma league. The outcome of the fund raising campaign hung in the balance for several days and on Feb. 29 the club directors warned the fans that if the desired amount was not subscribed by the last day of the month the franchise would be sold, which would mean that Texarkana would be without organized ball. Therefore, baseball conditions in Texarkana were not such that would cause songs of joy and thanksgiving to rise within the fans. Instead, melancholy claimed them for her own, for it looked as if the failure to raise the necessary funds to finance the season would effectually kill all the chances of the Texarkana club to get in the league.

It was through the efforts of Directors W. R. Hodge, Wilbur Burke and Ira Johnston that the work of raising the money was a success. Those three men saved Texarkana's place in the league by giving up their own time to solicit funds to maintain the club. When Hodge, Burke and Johnston took charge of the club directors warned baseball here for McKinney, which was a frost as a baseball proposition last season, was hot after the franchise and had made several fancy offers to take over the club.

Dee Fointexter, who has been selected to manage the team this season, has ability as a first class baseball manager and the directors believe they have chosen the right man to lead the club. Fointexter took charge of the local club in the South Central league last season and after a hard and close fight, proved himself a successful manager by finishing in first place. Treasurer Burke has promised the fans a big time when the pennant for the South Central league is raised in Maxwell park, which event will take place in the early part of May.

RICHIE WILL MEET M'FARLAND

Lightweight Champion Puts Provisions to Front in Making Announcement at Chicago.

Chicago, March 10.—Willie Ritchie, lightweight champion, announced today that he will give Packey McFarland the first chance at the title provided he will agree to weigh in at 133 pounds six hours before the bout.

"You can't blame me for wanting to drag Packey down somewhere near my size," said Ritchie. "I think he is the greatest exponent of scientific boxing in the world if any one will allow him to come in at 133 pounds at least six hours before ring time. However, as I hold the lightweight title, I feel it is purely a business deal to have something to say about the weight. As far as the money is concerned, I am not claiming the lion's share."

Pro Bill in Missouri.
Jefferson City, Mo., March 10.—Governor Major today signed the county unit local option bill. It will not become effective until ninety days after adjournment of the legislature.

Mud Is Only Trifle Carson Preaches His Ball Players

A little mud around the edges of the diamond at Katy park did not stop Manager Carson from putting his baseball players through a good work-out yesterday morning and yesterday afternoon.

"We're no mudhens," cried Carson's players when they assembled at the park yesterday morning.

"You've waded through mud and water to your knees to find one ball you had to play a game with when you were playing independent ball," good naturedly retorted Carson.

That settled it. The players went to work and before the morning's practice was over, they were rolling each other in the mud over a football.

In order to have a good practice period before the game starts today at Katy park between the Waco club and the St. Louis Browns, the umpire will not call the game until 3:45 o'clock.

LAVRENZ SIGNS BROWN'S PAPER

LOS ANGELES HOLD-OUT DECIDED TO ACCEPT HEDGES' PROPOSITION.

BALENTI COMING FROM ALASKA

Stovall Aggregation Play Exhibition Game Today With Navigators at Katy Park.

Lavrenz, the crack southpaw signed from the Los Angeles club in the Pacific Coast league, will join the St. Louis Browns at their Waco training camp today. He has been a hold-out and refused to consider the salary offered him by President Hedges until he had a conference with the president of the Browns at St. Louis Saturday night.

The president of the Browns, R. L. Hedges, will arrive in Waco tomorrow to join his club. A telegram from this all-important individual yesterday conveyed the news to Manager George Stovall that he was on his way to Waco and that he had heard from Balenti, the Indian third sacker drafted from the Chattanooga club in the Southern league. Balenti has been spending the winter in Alaska and no news was heard from him until Stovall received the message from Hedges. It is supposed that the red skin wired the president of the Browns as soon as he reached an available telegraph office.

The Browns put in a good day's work yesterday despite the lowering clouds and the heavy ball field. Stovall had his men out for a five-mile walk yesterday morning and in the afternoon he put his players through a regular practice work-out.

Today the Browns will play the Waco Navigators the second exhibition game. At the present Stovall intends to send in a number of the promising recruits in order to get a line on what they can do in a real game. Carson likely will depend largely on his veterans in the field and send in young pitchers to do the major portion of the battery work.

The game with Stovall's veterans and the Corsicans team has been postponed from Wednesday until Thursday. The following players will make the trip to the neighboring city: Sloan, center field; Johnston, left field; Walker, right field; Stovall, first base; Austin and Graff, third base; Walsh, shortstop; Roche, second base; Agnew and Alexander, catchers; Stone, Schwenk and Baumgardner, pitchers.

This line-up for the game Thursday, which is subject to change, would indicate that Hamilton will work here against the Waco team today as one of the major pitchers. Stovall will send a team against the Baylor boys Wednesday.

The Browns will leave here Friday night in special cars for a series of two games each with the Houston club and the Beaumont club.

DENISON IS A BASEBALL TOWN

Twenty Exhibition Games Scheduled Before Opening of Texas-Oklahoma League Season.

Denison, March 10.—Indications are that March will be an important one in baseball circles in Denison, for more than twenty games are assured previous to the opening of the Texas-Oklahoma season on April 1.

Dale Gear, manager and owner of the Topeka (Kan.) franchise in the Western Association, today notified the officials of the Denison Baseball association that he would arrive in Denison with not less than twenty men on Tuesday, March 18, and remain here two weeks training his team.

The local club will play the Gear team on March 22 and 23. The St. Louis Browns have a game scheduled here for March 24, and Dallas comes on Saturday and Sunday of that week.

Robert Bray, one of the local stockholders, who is spending a few weeks in Marlin, writes that McGraw is anxious to bring the New York Giants with James Thorpe to Denison on March 16, or some time during that week. It is probable that he will be accommodated.

On March 14 Austin College of Sherman will play a game on the local lot and in between these games it is probable that others will be played with Texas League towns. Denison's drawing ability as a baseball town is causing many of the big league team managers to look to this place for exhibition games during their training season.

More than a dozen of Denison's team has reported and are now doing light training at the park twice each day.

CARSON RELEASES PLAYERS.

First "Wedding" of Season Takes Place—Five Go.

Manager Carson yesterday released the following players: Vitter, a catcher from the South Atlantic league; Gardner, shortstop from Northern Texas; Baron, pitcher from the Chicago city league who volunteered his services in order to have a try with the team; Gilliam, pitcher from Winona, and Petrel, pitcher of Cambridge, Ohio, unable to report.

With Young Crosby, Reilly and himself in line Carson did not think Vitter would add strength to the catching department. Gardner did not show well with the stick and Baron needs more experience with the bush leagues before he can break into Texas league company. Gilliam was another recruit who failed to show form and Petrel never reported on account of illness and asked for his release.

MANDOT TAKES FULL COUNT.

Leach Cross Uses Terrific Right Swing to Win.
New Orleans, March 10.—With a terrific right swing to the jaw, Leach Cross of New York tonight practically knocked out Joe Mandot of New Orleans in the ninth round. With a series of piston like punches, Cross knocked Mandot down five times before the bell.

When the tenth round began Mandot could hardly stand, and a few light rights and lefts finished the work.
